REVOLUTION IN IT.

THE DANGERS WRAPPED UP IN THE M'COMAS BILL

A DESPERATE PARTISAN SCHEME.

Which Would Attend the Passage of WASHINGTON, March 13 .- [Special.]-The McComas anti-gerrymandering bill, intended to prevent the re-districting of Ohio and Maryland, are now before the houre committee on the election of president and vice-president, is strongly condemned by the leading democrats in the house. All state that the dangers attendant to the passage of this bill are grave, and cannot be under-estimated. Many republicans seriously question the expedience of passing the measure. Major McKinley and Ben Butterworth, have already signified their disapprobation to a measure designed to throtale the voice of the people of Ohio on election day. Thus far the McComas bill has been a threat to the Ohio democrats. A threat calculated to prevent the passage of the re-dis-tricting bill, which makes sixteen districts out of Ohio's twenty-one strongly democratic.

Since this bill is now a law, the republicans in the house feel it incumbent upon them to do something to prevent the Ohio democrats from having the majority representation in congress. As the Ohio legislature is strongly inclined to change the method of choosing presidential electors from the present system to one in which they would be chosen by congressional districts, the desperation of the republicans can be imagined. Unpopular as the course of the party at present in power is, ils members are straining every effort to pre-vent the overmhelming democratic majority that the next election is sure to bring.

CONGRESSMAN WILSON TALKS. Congressman Wilson, of West Virginia, who has given the McComas bill considerable study, speaks significantly of the serious consequences that might result if the measure is "The democratic position is strongly antag enistic to the bill," said Mr. Wilson, "on the ground that it is unconstitutional, that con-gress had never interfered in the redistricting of statee, and has no right to do so; that it is a desperate party expedient is evident, but the consequences of such a law should be borne in mind. They would be of the gravest description. They would throw congress into chaos, and could easily precipitate a civil war."

"The ingenuity exercised in the forming of McComas's bill show that it was designed expressly for the benefit of Ohio and Maryland, who have recently passed redis-tricting laws. Whatever good points it may have as a general law are more than counterbalanced by the political clap-trap interspersed and intended to affect Maryland and Ohiochiefly Ohio. Suppose, for instance, the democrats would elect congressmen by the new districts, and the republicans by the old. Two delegations, comprised of twenty-one members each, would come to congress and present their credentials. The credentials of the republican claimants would be certified to by the ropublican state canvassing board—those of the democrats by the governor, as the state legislature may decide. In the meantime, which set of claimants would take part in the organization of the house? How could the justice of the rival claims be thus informally determined? All would depend on the clerk of the house He could enroll whatever set he pleased. The result would be, I fear, very serious. No party should attempt to carry out a policy so unjust that its opponents would feel justified in re-

"What do you think of the change proposed in Ohio regarding the method of choosing presidential electors?"

'The legislature of each state has the undoubted right to prescribe the manner in which presidential electors shall be chosen in that state. If Ohio wishes to choose her electors by congressional districts, she had the right to do plan by state ticket has been adopted. As late as 1868 South Carolina had its presidential electors chosen by the state legislature, and there is no law against such a method even now."

TOURGEE BEFORE A COMMITTEE. Albion W. Tourgee went before the house committee on education this morning, and argued in favor of the bill of Mr. Kennedy, of Ohio, to appropriate one dollar annually to every illiterate in the United States, the money to be distributed in the school districts. He was followed by Professor Chambers, (Colorado) of North Carolina, who spoke in favor of the bill to appoint a congressional committee to inquire into and report upon the progress and condition of the colored race since their emancipation. Such a course, he said, would show to the world the real condition of the negro, and thereby induce the white men of both par-ties to meet on common grounds and settle the race question. The wranglings of the sections, he said, would never do the negro any good. It simply resulted in harm to the black man. He concluded by saying that there was a feeling in all sections that the negro should be treated justly, and that if the negro was shown his true condition and let alone, he would be able to settle the question himself.

The democrats of the committee heartily indorse Chambers's views, but the republicans did not look upon them with favor. They don't want the race question settled. It is political meat to them, as was shown by John Sherman's speech in the senate today.

No official information has reached the cor missioner of internal revenue as to any trouble at the High Shoals distillery. Deputy Commissioner Wilson was shown at the newspaper reports this morning. He simply smiled, and replied that no official information having reached him, he could make no statement However, should official inforformation reach the department it would take steps to protect the negro in the discharge of his duty.

"But," said a well known republican polititian, "you may rest assured that the department don't want any official information right now. They would prefer to learn officially that the negro had either been killed or whip ped and made to leave the country. That would be campaign material, and that's what's wanted."

A WHEEL BROKE.

A Bad Accident on the Georgia Pacific

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 13 .- A serious accident happened on the Georgia Pacific rail-road, some twenty miles east of Birmingham. about noon today. An east-bound freight train was crossing a trestle fifty feet high, near Horse Creek mines, when one of the wheels of a coal car broke. The bumping of the derailed cars broke the trestle, and twelve cars went down with it. The engine and the car next to it passed safely over. Five of the wrecked cars were loaded with coal and the others with merchandise. All took fire from a stove in the caboose, and burned with th trestle.

RICHMOND, Va., March 13.-[Special.]-Mercie's equestrian statue, in bronze, of General Robert E. Lee, has been accepted. Gov ernor McKinney, president of the monument association, received a cablegram this morning from Mr. C. P. E Burgwyn, who was commissioned go to Paris and receive the statue, if satisfactory to him, saying: "The statue is received; it is magnificent," Mr. Burgwyn, under whose supervision the granite base and pedes tal was constructed, will superintend th ing of the statue, and will see to its ship

At the recent session of the legislature, resolutions were adopted accepting the monu-ment on behalf of the state, on behalf of the state, the deed of conveyance will and now be recorded, and the import dues will be saved. Nearly two thousand dollars is needed to finish paying for the statue, and Treasurer Harman and Colonel Archer Anderson are soliciting contributions to raise the indebtedness before the unveiling. When the horse and rider arrive, it is proposed that they shall be loaded on a wagon and be drawn through the streets by men, as was done with the Washington statue when it reached here in 1857. The two statues are of about the same dimensions and weight.

THE PROTEST OF THE BISHOPS Against the Power Given School Boards in

Milewaukre, Wis., March 13.—The full text of the protest of three Catholic bishops of Wisconsin, Heiss, Flasch and Katzer, against the Bennet school laws was made public yesterday. The gist of the long document issued by the bishops is that the law goes so far as to leave it to the decision of the State School board as to whether any school is to be regarded as having a legal existence or not regarded as having a legal existence or not. The bishops say:

regarded as having a legal existence or not. The bishops say:
We have indeed, nothing against the demand that reading, writing, arithmetic and United States history be taught in the English language, but we do object to the power granted by this provision to schools beards to decide whether our schools have a right to exist before the law.

The bishops explain that "they cannot but apprehend the ultimate intention is to graduully destroy the parochial system altogether." They add: "We have never received one single cent of state help for our schools. We want no state interference with them, either." want no state interference with them, either.'

They will reach here at 11 a. m. tomorrow, and will be met at the station by Mayor Bryan, and a committee, and escorted to a hotel. They will then be taken on a revenue cutter for a trip around the harbor and to Magnolia gardens, returning to the city in time for dinner at 5 p. m. At night the visitors will hold a reception at the hotel, which will be attended by ladies of the city. The party will leave here for Florida at 8 a. m. Saturday. A Fruitless Investigation.

A Fruitless Investigation.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—This afternoon Senator Dolph's investigating committee having finished questioning senators and employes as to their complicity, if any, in previous publications of executive session proceedings, began an inquiry relating to the premature publication of the treaties. By request of Private Secretary Halford and Exeutive Clerk Praden, of the white house, and Messrs. Cridles. Phillips, and Taylor, of the diplomatic bureau, state department, appeared before the committee. The first two; were questioned merely as to the method of transmitting messages from the white house to the capitol, and the latter as to their knowledge of the manner in which copies of certain treatises had reached the press in advance of action thereon by the senate. They could tel committee nothing respecting these publications

WOMAN'S RIGHTS

COME TO THE FRONT IN MISSIS-SIPPI.

THE FIGHT ON PRESIDENT COCKE Was Made Because He Happened to Be a Man—The Other Teachers Want a Woman in His Place.

JACKSON, Miss., March 13.-[Special.]-A few days before the adjournment of the legislature, Governor Stone, who is president of the board of trustees of the girl's college at Culumbus, received a petition from a large number of girls at the institution, charging President Cocke with general inefficiency, competency, and not suited for the place. charge of immorality nor improper conduct was made against him.

IN THE LEGISLATURE. The governor ordered a meeting of the trus tees, but before such meeting was had, the ru mors became current that the president was accused of immoral and improper conduct. A resolution was passed in the house of representatives, on the last day of the session, appointing a committee of three members of the body to proceed to Columbus, and investigate the alleged charges, and report to the governor. In moving those resolutions, which met with opposition on the ground that it was the province of the board of trustees to deal with the entire matter, a member stated that the honor of the womanhood and girlhood of the state was at stake in the matter. EXONERATED IN ONE SENSE.

The legislative committee and board of trus-tees arrived at Columbus about the same time, and examined many witnesses under oath, and both honorably acquitted the president of any conduct not becoming a thorough Christian gentleman. In fact, no charge could be traced, except that one youn lady had written that morally he was unfit for the place. She explained that she did not mean this in the sense which it had been un-derstood, but intended to say that he had made different and conflicting statements to different persous regarding the same matter, and that she considered this immoral conduct. The vindication of the president on this count wa very complete.

THE WOMEN AGAINST HIM.

The trustees then spent two or more days inestigating the charge of unfitness, incompe ency, etc. They found most of the facult (all ladies) and the great bulk of the girls opposed to the president, and contending that he was not the man for the place. Some of the eachers were on his side, but, while nothing detrimental to the character of Professor Cock was developed, it was evident that he must go or the first three or four chairs occupied by lady teachers would be vacated, and a majority of the girls would go home. This being the case, he resigned, and the board put Miss Calloway, next in authority before this to Cocke, at the head of the institution till June, when all of the professors, teachers, etc., are requested to have their resignations in, and a general reorganiza tion is expected.

WOMAN AGAINST MAN. It is claimed by some that the real issue is, shall a weman or a man be at the head of the institution? The White Ribboner, the organ of the Woman's Christian Temperance union edited by a lady, screams for a woman in every department of the college. It is also claime that the fight was opened on Cocke because he would not join in the effort to make, by legal enactment, Columbus a dry town. Be this as it may, the fight is a hard one. A woman is now in the saddle, and your correspondent predicts that they will win the fight and the institution will sooner or later have feminine bosses from cellar to garrett.

Information. JACKSON, Miss., March 13.—[Special.]—Commissioner Patty's letter of inquiry to the new treasurer as to how much money, etc., had been turned over to him by ex-Treasurer Her ingway has been answered, and the amounts aggregate in cash, bonds and coupons, etc., paid over at different times from January 6th to February 19th, $315,835.90. It also appeared that the late treasurer is entitled to a crdit on account of warrants and bonds paid during the four days in January, and not entirely int the above statement, and figures of $60,001.93, which substracted from this liability as, Commissioner Patty refers to it in his letter to Treasurer Evans as appearing from the books of the treasurer's books, an apparent deficit of upward of three hundred thousand dollars.

The committee will probably report next week The statements above made are deduced from the letter of Commissioner Patty to Treasurer Evans and that officer's reply: The friends of Colonel Hemingway seem to be nfident that when the whole matter is gor through with that it can be shown that he ha failed to credit himself with propar credits enough to bring him out all right.

THE CHARITY BALL.

The Great Social Event at St. Augustine Last Night.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 13.—The charity ball tonight at the Ponce de Leon was the greatest social success of the season. All New York's four hundred were transported bodily here, and the weath and fashion of the whole country was represented. The ball is given for the benefit of Alicia hospital, which was built by Mr. Flagler, and will be supported by the Ladies' Hospital association, for whom the ball was given. Among the prominent guests were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin S. Brice, of Ohio; B. F. Jones and wife, Fred Yanderbit and wife. Admiral Upshur and wife, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. UNDER THE WATER.

THE LEVEE AT NEW ORLEANS FLOWS OVER

AND THE CITY IS INUNDATED. The Water Running Down the Streets and

NEW ORLEANS. March 13 .- At 1 o'clock p. m. today the river was three inches above the high water mark of 1874, and is still rising. ning over the levee and all lower places in the vicinity were soon flooded. On the lower side of Canal street, near the harbor station, the water covers the levee up to the Louisville and Nashville depot. At Beinville street much of the levee is under water, and at Conti street the entire levee is covered with water. Streets about the sugar exchange are flooded and the exchange s reached by temporary plank walks. Water is flowing down the gutters of Bienville, Conti and other streets below Canal street. Although the water is running over levees, there need be no apprehension, as between the bulkhead of the wharves thick planks are driven into the ground, behind which is a levee batture. This affords a protection that will not give way, and no great damage is likely to result from water running over.

THE RIVER STILL RISING. At Cloet street, the water is running over the bank in quite a stream, flooding the gutters and adjacent streets. The river continu rising steadily. At 3:30 p. m., the gauge was sixteen feet eight-tenths, which is six inches above the high water mark of former years. A large part of the city below Canal street is nearly submerged. Water at the custom house is over the sidewalks, and coming up rapidly. On the Decatur street side, water fills the street, and is beginning to encroach on the DETAILS OF THE FLOOD.

The river here at 8 a. m. was sixteen feet and three-tenths. At 5 o'clock it was reported by the harbor station at sixteen feet and ninetenths, and at 2:50 o'clock they reported the that point but a short while when it receded to sixteen feet eight-tenths, where it seemed to make a stand. This was six inches above the record of other years, and the water went over the levees all along the city front at every depression or low place and soon flooded the streets and sidewalks of a large section of the city. Up town at the head of Jackson, Washington and Sarapu streets, the waves washed over the levee and submerged the streets and sidewalks. The same thing occurred at other points down to Poydras street. Here the water spread out over a broad space occupied by the Morgan road, filled up the low places and then began to flow down Poydras street and out into the cross streets on either side, covering the sidewalks on Poydras street as far as St. Charles street, and filling the gutters back to the drainage canals in the rear of the city.

BUSINESS HOUSES FLOODED.

BUSINESS HOUSES FLOODED. On Gravier street the water flowed freely completely covering the street in places. At the head of Canal street, the water was running head of Canal street, the water was running over the levee, but very little; but from Custom House street to Conti, the water came over the levees freely, and completely submerged the streets, and in many places the sidewalks and lower floors of business houses from the north side of Canal to Hospital street, a distance of fourteen blocks, and from the river to Rampart street, a distance of eight blocks.

From Rampart street the water flows off in From Rampart street the water flows off in gutters or street drains to the drainage canals in rear of the city. Below Elysian Fields the water is also passing over the levee in many places, and on the north side of Canal street the sidewalk in front of the Touro buildings was overflowed, and Hill's jewelry store was invaded by the water and other buginess places suffered in a like manner. The greatest damage was that sustained by the iness places suffered in a like manner. The greatest damage was that sustained by the merchants who had sugar in the old bonded warehouse on Old Levee street.

At 9:30 p. m. gauge reading at the head of Canal street was sixteen feet eight-tenths, showing that the river has remained about stationary since 3 p. m., and this overflow seems to have taken most people by surprise, though all who had business on the levee made preparations for it to the extent of removing their goods to safe quarters.

Across the river.

Since yesterday evening the levees across of some fifteen miles. In many instances the water flows back for ten squares. Large forces have been at work raising the levee with sacks filled with earth.

The Southern and Crescent Oil mills were being washed under by water, and the floors were torn away and embankments built underneath. A break occurred at the Hatch place, near Harvey's canal, but it only reached the width of four feet, when it was discovered and promptly closed. It is still a dangerous spot, as the levee is very weak there. The levee at Sharp's place, five miles above Gretna, where there was a serious crevasse some years ago, is again creating anxiety as it shows signs of weakening and a force will work all night to strengthen it. The Company canal empties into the river just above the city limits on the right bank and is the avenue by which boats reach the Bayou Barataria, and the oyster and fishing grounds below.

The water has reached the top of the locks. They will not be opened any more for the present as the letting in of the river might lead to damaging results.

From Canal street ferry to Morgan depot, the principal portion of Algiers, a distance of three-quarters of a mile, the situation at one time was very threatening, about noon the water commencing washing over the levee along its whole length and in a short space of time the entire front and street for ten blocks back were flooded. Yardmaster Maguire, of the Morgan road, and city forces went to work at once and in a few hours threw up a entire new levee. That stopped the flow temporarily, but the water was already knee deep on Front street.

but the water was already knee deep on Front street.

The Southern Pacific and Texas Pacific tracks are both across the river, but travel is still uninterrupted, owing to the good work done. Just below Algiers is Orleans levee, which commands a large section of country. A new levee was constructed only a few days ago, but the river has been climbing up, and today the warning signal was again given. The water was six inches deep over the levee's crest. Men and material were promptly furnished and a gallant effort is being made to stay the flood.

DAMAGED BY VESSELS.

The swell caused by ocean steamers seriously

The swell caused by ocean steamers seriously interfered with the work at the levees several days ago, washing some of the new work into the road, and the mayor has asked the governor to issue a proclamation to steamships to show due regard for the safety of the levees.

The city council met tonight and adopted a resolution appropriating $50,000, or as much as shall be necessary, for work on the levees during the danger period.

The river at other points—Baton Rouge,

Indications are that it will rain all of tonight. The river here has risen one and a half inches in the past twenty-four hours, and is still rising with the gauge indicating forty-three feet. The rise in the river at the following points in this district in the past twenty-four hours has been as follows: Concordia, two and one-half inches; Mound, two inches; Bolivar, one inch; Brunswick, three inches.

THE SITUATION AT MEMPHIS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 13 .- The rivers are in an alarming condition. The highest flood level ever recorded has already been reached at many points south of here and will likely be attained from Cairo to the gulf within the next five or six days. The rainfall of the last next five or six days. The rainfall of the last three days sums up a total of from two to three inches over the country lying west of the Mississippi to the Indian territory and south of the Ozark range, and from two to five inches between the Ohio and Cumberland valley. The river at this point is three-tenths above the great rise of 1882, and one-tenth below that of 1887, the highest on record.

The Kansas City INUNDATED.

The Kansas City, Ft. Scott and Memphis, the Iron Mountain, and Little Rock and Memphis railroads, whose tracks lie through the flooded district opposite here, are confident of escaping inundation, the roadbeds having been put in excellent condition during the past year.

An Appeal reporter, who has just returned from Arkansas City, Ark., says the real condition of affairs at that place have been suppressed. The water from Sappington break has flooded the town and surrounding country. Hundreds of hogs and sheep have been drowned and the people are in constant fear of a break in the levee in front of the city, where the water yesterday was four inches upon the sand bags on the top of the levee.

THE OHIO FALLING.

CAIRO, Ills., March 13.—The river has fallen about three inches since last night. The gauge reads forty-eight feet and six and one-halftenths. The weather is cloudy and cold. The Ohio river is reported falling at Shawneetown and Paducah, and rising from Evansville. The Mississippi river is also falling. It is thought the Mississippi river has about reached its highest point, but a heavy rise from above may cause it to rise again or materially check its decline

The Empress Eugenia is editing the letters of her late husband and her son for publication.

The sale of the book will be devoted to the fund for the relief of the widows of the soldiers who fell in the war of 1870. The book will include several letters received by the late prince imperial from various ladies of rank.

Herr Tisza Resigns. PESTH, March 13.—Notwithstanding the positive statement on Tuesday that Von Tisza had resigned the office of Hungarian prime minister, and that Count Von Szapary had been appointed to succeed him, Von Tisza to-day announced in the lower house of the Hungarian diet that he had today asked the emperor to accept his resignation.

Premier Tirard Angry.

Panis, March 13.—The senate today rejected the vote of confidence asked by Premier Tirard on the question of a commercial treaty with Turkey. The motion was defeated by a vote of 163 to 85. M. Tirard was much displeased with the result, and it is rumored that he has threatened to resign.

Mr. Biggar's Successor.

Snow Sixty Feet Deep.

ALAMOSA, Col., March 13.—The Rio Grande railway has two hundred and fifty snow shovellers at work opening the snow blockade across San Juan range, at Cumbres, on the east side of the divide. Snow is reported to be sixty feet aboye the top of telegraph poles and for miles on each side it is from twenty-five to forty feet dee, the deepest ever known in this locality. The weather is very severe, the temperature being twenty-two degrees below zero today. This is the third time the pass has been snowed up this winter and it will probably be ten days before it is opened.

Bound Over For Horse Stealing.

Augusta, Ga., March 13.—[Special.]—Sam Hammond, a negro charged with stealing a horse from Tax-Collector Bohler, had a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Nathan Davis today. Messrs. R. Y. Harris and Sam uel Coleman, two well known white men o integrity, testified in the case. The evidence was damaging to the prisoner. Seeing the coils tightening upon him' Hammond adopted a bold plan to save himself, and declared that the witnesses had perjured themselves. Each of them, he said, had wilfully lied and knew he was lying when he gave in his evidence. The witnesses were only restrained by the interference of the court officers from at once resenting the negro's rude insults. Hammond was bound over.

The case attracted widespread attention, as did his capture at Danville. It was necessary to bring him to Raleigh for safe keeping. Last month he was taken to Pittsboro for trial and was convicted of the murder. It was proved that after killing Horton he had taken the body to a tobacco barn, dug a grave and buried it and had placed tobacco over it. He then gave out that Horton had left. Davis was sentenced to be hanged March 28th. He intended to appeal to the supreme court, but failed to perfect his appeal during the term of the court, and thus lost his oppor-tunity. He must now rely wholly on execu-tive clemency. His bearing during the trial showed rare pluck, and his evidence appeared to be straight forward. The commiss the county have ordered that the execution shall be public. The death watch has been

THE FACTS COME OUT.

While some people were impressed with the belief that there might be something in Davis's testimony in his own defense, facts were made public today which show the man to be a criminal of the worst class. He has a terrible record behind him, as he is now announced to be William Shackleford, of Marion county, S. C. Davis stated on trial that he left Horry county, South Carolina, three years ago, and that he was born and raised on a farm there. Sheriff Sessions, of Horry county, says there never has been such family in the county. a family in the county. He says Davis or, Shackleford, was raised in Marion, a county adjoining Horry, and was forced to leave there for seducing his own very young daughter. He went to Georgetown county, and again had to flee for his life, being charged with murdering his daughter's offspring. He then took refuge in the lake swamps in a very isolated section of Horry county, and remained there several months before he was discovered. He was chased away, and made his way in the direction of Fayetteville, N. C. He preached every where he went, and it is said, by those who heard him, that he was a pretty good preacher. He left Horry county about three years ago.

IN A DESPONDENT MOOD.

Davis has but little to say, and seems to have lost all hope and settled down in utter despair ever since he heard the verdict of the jury. He had stated to persons in the neigh-borhood where he lived, in Chatham county. that he had lived in Marion and Georgetown counties, South Carolina. Rumors were affoat in Chatham substantially similar to the facts given by Sheriff Sessions. A friend of Davis's who was very intimate with him, has stated to several persons that if Davis, alias Shackleford, came to the gallows, that he would con-fess the crimes of seduction and the murder of Horton. It is entirely probable that a long career of crime and deception witl come to an end in Pittsboro on the 28th, and many offenses be publicly expiated on the gallows.

Conviction of Lynchers. the Blair lynchers was finished this afternoon, and the jury tonight returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree against Mrs. Oleson, Olehansen and Olesletto. Noland Will be Prosecuted.

Sr. Louis, March 13.—The latest advices about state treasury affairs are that Noland's shortage in exact figures is $32,745, as given by the examining committee whe completed their report at a very late hour last night. The committee made two reports, one of which specially explains how, where and in what amounts Noland took the money from the treasury. It is said the report is very damaging to the late treasurer, and in all ikleihood will insure his arrest and prosecution. No word has yet been received from Noland.

Claimed to be an Accidental Shot.

Augusta, Ga., March 13.—[special.]—This evensing Columbus Hackney, a young married man, shot himself in the shoulder, causing only a flesh wound, but the report spread rapidly that he had attempted suicide. It is reported that his wife had left him and gone to her brother's home, and that it was after an interview with her there that the attempt at self-destruction occurred. Mr. Hackney denies that he attempted suicide, and says the shooting was accidental, he having had no idea of discharging the pistol when he was carelessly handling it. The wound is not dangerous.

HALL'S SCHEME

BY WHICH MR. STUCKEY WAS TO MAKE SOME MONEY, & Case Growing Out of the Contested Land Claims in the Counties Around East-man-Smashing an Injunction.

MACON, Ga., March 13 .- [Special.]-There Is a very interesting case before Judga Speer, of the United States court, and before the hearing is concluded there may be some very sensational developments. The evidence of today had a flavor of spice. A brief resume of the matter is necessary to the understanding of the case.

Peter J. Williams owned large tracts of land In Dodge and other counties. He sold some of this land to Colbert, Chase & Crocker, who were really the agents of the Georgia Lumber company, so it was alleged, of which George E. Dodge, of New York, was a large member The deeds to the land, however, were taken in the name of Colbert, Chase & Crocker. In time, Norman W. Dodge, of New York, became possessed of these lands, through George E. Dodge. The firm of Briggs, Hall & Sleeper became attorneys in fact for Colbert, Chase & Crocker to sell these lands. Dodge brought the matter into the United States court in 1886, and Judge Speer granted a perpetual injunction restraining Briggs, Hall & Sleeper from trespassing apon the lands in any manner, or selling the same, the court holding that Colbert, Chase & Crocker, who were represented by Briggs, Hall & Sleeper, had bought the lands for the Georgia Lumber company.

HALL BROUGHT INTO COURT. A short time ago Hill & Harris, Lanier & Anderson, and R. K. Hines, as attorneys for Norman W. Dodge, filed a complaint in the United States court against Hon, L. A. Hall, of Eastman, individually, who was a member of the firm of Briggs, Hall & Sleeper, alleging trespass upon the lands in question.

Accordingly, Judge Speer caused a rule to be served on Hall for a rule to be served on Hall for him to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court. This charge of contempt is now being heard. The defendant is represented by A. Proudfit, Marion Erwin and J. A. Thomas. Defendant's attorneys made the point that when the injunction was granted against Briggs. Hall & Sleeper in 1886, Hill & Harris were attorneys for them, and that as they are now attorneys for the opposite side, the proceedings in court should be declared void, as the present case grew out of the one in 1886, and the two cases are one and the same. Judge Speer held that the cases are separate and distinct, and overruled the defendant's point. Quite a large number of consitutional and other points have been raised.

THE HEARING COMMENCED The hearing of testimony commenced today, and several witnesses were examined, the bu den of the testimony tending to show that Hall had violated the injunction and has been tres-

The testimony of Mr. H. T. Stuckey was to the effect that while attending a meeting of the state alliance in Macon, in August, 1889 he was approached by Colonel Luther A. Hall, who offered him a scheme to make some money. The scheme was explained and he promised to think about it. After returning promised to think about it. After returning to his home in Montgomery county he received two letters from Mr. Hall. The letters were produced and are as follows:

Stuckey: Dear sir—Inclosed find list of lands in the sixth district. Any of these lots that you can get in possession of I can hold against the world.
These lands belong to the state of Georgia, and we are a part of the state: I do not think we should let Dodge have them. I will represent for half of what we make. Have nothing if I am unsuccessful. There are not many lots in this district and if you wish to look after lots in other districts, I will send numbers.
Interest your friends in this, but be careful not to talk too much. We will be safe in this matter.
As soon as you are in possession of a lot let me

I will take rule misi to foreclose mortgage against Berryhill. He has not come to count. I am very furo. Sell all timber you can off of above lots. Obediently, L. A. HALL.

OTHER WITNESSES. Witness Wilkerson said: Live in Dodge county; heard of land Mr. Hall was disposing of; went to see him in company with Mr. Mullis; he told us to go ahead and prek our lots; we selected Nos. 269 and 270; went back and got deed; deed was from William Smith; did not know Smith; never heard of him; was told to put deed away and not show it for told to put deed away and not show it for awhile. Mr. Hall agreed to defend us in case trouble arose, and would take half of the land as fees in case he was successful. Witness Mullis testified about as above. Th

'No, sir, this is a fact. Twenty pounds of fish in one hour's time sounds pretty large, I know, but this is just what Colonel A. L. Wisenbuker, Mr. S. E. Swilly and myself did Wisenbuker, Mr. S. E. Swilly and myself did yesterday on Ocean pond. I went down there to arrange for boats and accommoda-tions for a large party of Atlanta and Rome people, who are to be there about April 1st. Well, I was induced to try about April ist. Well, I was induced to try my luck in the lake and we three took a boat and were gone about one hour. Oh, I never saw such sport in all my life. And such sailing! Well, sir, its just as nice as if you were on the broad Atlantic. You can sail about seven miles in a direct course. About twelve or fitten boats are now being made and as many more are already in use, so you see we will have all the boats that will be necessary. All you've got to do is to get a hook and line, a few worms, jump in a boat, sail out a little piece and then begin to, pull in the fish.

"Besides the above lake there are a large number of smaller ones, all of which are full of fish and easily accessible. These lakes are bound to be well patronized during the next

A $100,000 HOTEL.

The Scheme to Build a Resort Near Maco for Tourists.

MACON, Ga.. March 13.—[Special.]—THE CONSTITUTION learns today that as soon as Mr. Henry Horne is well enough he will go to work to raise $100,000 to build a fine hotel in Vineville, Macon's charming suburb. Now York and Philadelphia capitalists will be interested in the project, and home capital will also be solicited. Mr. Horne has already obtained fifty acres of land for the site, very conveniently situated. The Vineville electric road will be extended to it. The place is high and commanding, and lies beautifully for terracing, fountains and lakes. Mr. Horne's idea is to have a home-like place to attract northern visitors in winter and south Georgians in summer. There is fine water-power on the place.

POLITICS BOILING UP.

THE CANDIDATES ARE BEGINNING

bb County Is Full of Them-Promin Alliancemen Spoken Of-Hon. A. S. Clay Out of the Race.

MARIETTA, Ga., March 13.—[Special.]—The political pot is beginning to boil in Cobb county. A correspondent to the Marietta Journal announces the name of A. J. Maddox, and that announcestic name of A.J. Maddox, and that fact has brought out several names. Among them are John A. Sibley, son of the late Joseph Sibley, of Augusta. Mr. Sibley will make a good race. He is a young man of ability and integrity, and Cobb would be well represented by Mr. Sibley if elected. He is also a very prominent alliance man. The name of Colonel R. N. Holland has been prominently mentioned for legislative but as he has a fine law practice, it is hardly probable that he will run.

Also the name of Colonel John E. Mozley is mentioned. Several alliancemen have suggested the name of B. Rainey, of Acworth Mr. Rainey is a farmer and honest man, and has the respect of the whole county, besides being president of the county alliance. He is a man of ability, and if he runs, the opinion o the farmers is he will be elected.

Alvin G. Dempsey is also spoken of, and will make the canvass warm for somebody.

The friends of John Pirkenson are putting him forward. He is a practical farmer, and has the esteem of the entire county.

There may be others who would like to appear in the arena, but as yet not known. The farmers of this county are not in favor of a third political party, but are pure democrats, and whatever action they take in politics will be in the democratic they take in politics will be in the democratic way—by primaries. The farmers say they want to try two farmers this time to represent Cobb, while others think the best way for all the people is to elect one farmer and one law-yer. All the men mentioned above are true, good men, and the county would be well represented by either. resented by either.

Hon. A. S. Clay, it is understood, will not run at all. He says he is out of politics, and will give his attention strictly to his law practice.

Yesterday evening, about six miles from Morgantown, in lower Creek township, three little children were burned to dcath. Two of them, about two and three years old respectively, were the children of Mrs. Lizzie Johnson, who lives in an isolated log tenant's house on James D. Kincaid's farm. The other victim was the child of a neighbor who was playing with the children of the Johnson woman when

WAR ON A WOMAN

Waged by Marshal Buck's Party Friends in Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 13.-[Special.]-

On the republican side of the house, a petition was circulated this morning, asking Collector D. A. Nunn to remove Mrs. Gertrude Pillow

Hanes. The gallant republicans who are making war on a woman, can find no charge to bring against her except that she is a demo-crat. Mrs. Hanes was a most efficient clerk in the internal revenue department, and when Collector Nunn was installed, he agreed to keep her in her position, because his demo-keep her in her position, because his demo-cratic predecessor, Collector Hillsman, had kept a republican in his employ. The petition did not get the signatures of all the republican representatives. Some of them seemed to be ashamed of it, and one of them said it was a mean, contemptible piece of business, and that if the republican party could not live without resorting to such low things it deserved to die.

Two Fires in Greenville

Two Fires in Greenville.

Greenville, S. C., March 13.—[Special.]—There seems to be an epidemic of fires among the cotton mills of this section. Close upon the heels of the large fire at Pelzer yesterday, comes two smaller ones today in the mills located in our city. The first was in the picker room of Camperdown mill No. 2, at 10 o'clock this morning, which, in a few minutes, destroyed over twenty-five bales of cotton and damaged the building and machinery to the extent of $2,000; fully insured. The second occurred early this afternoon in the picker room of the Huguenot plaid mills, and though not so severe as the other, there was several hundred dollars damage done before it was extinguished. The prompt action of the system of extinguishers, together with our excellent yolunteer department, saved both mills.

Found Not Guilt

GREENVILLE, S. C., March 13.— [Special.]—
The entire day was consumed in the circuit court here in the trial of W. H. Charles for the killing of a negro named Wash Cannon, in January last. The jury after being out only ten minutes, returned a verdict of not guilty. The killing, though a clear case of self defence, caused considerable excitement among the negroes at the time, and not a few threats were made against Charles.

To Extend Their Business

ATHENS, Ga., March 13.—[Special.]—Talmadge Bros., a firm known throughout the business circles of the state, will change its affairs considerably. They will discard the retail feature of their grocery trade, and will increase their wholesale department. They will also operate their large mill on the Northeastern road, and also that of Taylor Bros. & Hall. They will run the business on a large scale.

he Soque Mills Reopened—The New Hotel-In the Realms of Politics—The Robbers Will Enter a Plea of Guilty.

CLARKSVILLE, Ga., March 13 .- [Special.]-This old town is looking up. While no boom has struck, the outlook is good. The Soque Woolen mills, which failed one year ago, and has been closed since, has just emerged from the litigation, and is on its feet again. The new corporation is the Clarksville Woolen mills, and the charter has just been granted for a strong company to operate the same, and the mills are running on full time.

The new Eureka hotel is nearing con and will be open by the first of June for the summer business. There are other improve ments of recent date which add much to the town. Only last year, the old Habersham hotel was overhauled, refitted and refurnished and is now one of the best hotels in north Georgia. S. P. Brittain, late of North Carolina is the proprietor.

DEMOREST IS GROWING The new town of Demorest is forging shead and several manufacturing enterprises have been chartered at this term of the court to engage in business there. Alongside of the railroad is being erected a large wagon, spoke and handle factory and the managers expect to begin operations soon. In the midst of the finest timber in the world, where health and cheap labor is the disidvatum there is no reason why this new enterprise should not succeed and become a fixture in the manufacturing world.

IN THE REALM OF POLITICS. Politics is much talked of, but there are no candidates for any office. The Farmers' alli ance will put out candidates for the various offices at the April meeting, and it is agreed that they will be able to elect their men, as the order is strong here, and are engaged ac-tively in the political arena. Hon. J. J. Kimsey, of White, was here last week, and says he is not in the race for congress, but will enter the contest for judge of the superior court for the Northeast circuit. PLEAD GUILTY. W. E. Blanchard and John Jinkins, who committed robbery on the countryman, near Toccoa, last winter, each plead guilty to the

The Startling Discovery Made by Some Lincoln County Negroes.

The Athens Banner says that a startling discovery has been made on one of Lincoln couny's largest plantations. Three graves hidden n the wilds of an unfrequented forest on the plantation of a prominent farmer were found by some negroes while out quite late at night.

The graves were ancient and half sunken by the telling stroke of many years, and were filled up with accumulated dead leaves.

The negroes were terrified and came away with many exclamations of their thrilling Their fright was fully justified, for perience. Their fright was fully justified, for it has been a tradition for years in that region, that three tories were buried in that neigh-borhood somewhere, for the murder of Colonel borhood somewhere, for the murder of Colonel Tom Dooly, a wealthy and aristocratic old gentleman who lived in revolutionary days. Among the plantation darkies in that region it has been a frightful superstition for years that a large pond very near the place where the graves have been found was haunted for the season that the tories were said to have been thrown into it. All kinds of appearations are all seader have been thought of appearations of the season that the stories were said to have been thrown into it. The discovery of these strange, and suspictous graves, confirms these stories that have lived so long. The Dooly family has been a most prominent one in the history of Georgia and the south. Judge John Mitchell Dooly, known widely for his witticisms, was a descend-

Austin was appointed a few months ago by President Harrison. There were twenty-seven applicants for the position, and some of the defeated candidates kept up the fight against Austin, after he was appointed, and have recently filed charges against him, it is said. Two fancy darkies, waiters at one of the hotels, hired a span of fine horses from a livery stable for one hour. They kept them two hours, driving them cruelly. As they dashed down to the stable at full tilt, they made a sharp turn, the buggy turning over on two wheels.

Mr. Norman is a good citizen, and there is nothing he delights to do more than to perform the marriage ceremony. At first, he says, he was a little agitated when performing that solemn duty, but now his nerves are calm and everything passes off serenely.

The whip was broken over them before they made their escape from the enraged stablemen.

THE NEGRO'S BALLOT.

A FAILURE.

Washington, March 13.—Mr. Frye, from the committee on commerce, reported a bill to repeal the law of the last congress requiring steamships to carry guns and rockets for casting lines in cases of distress, and stated the reason for the passage of the bill, in order, he said, "that the greed of certain companies might receive the notice required." The statement was to the effect that the Lyle Gun company furnished to the life-saving stations guns at $87.50; the Hunt Gun company guns at $87.25, and the Cunningham Rocket com-pany rockets at $20; but that after the enactment of the law steamships were required to pay $400 for a Lyle gun, $250 for a Hunt gun, and $90 for rockets. EUSTIS CORRECTS HOAR.

Mr. Eustis referred to two statements made by Mr. Hoar yesterday in reference to the southern states—one of them being that in the state of Louisiana, and, in some of the other states, there were laws which made it a penal offense, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, for a white man to associate on terms of equality with a black man. He asserted that there was not the slightest foundation for such a statement.

The other statement by Mr. Hoar was to the effect that there was another law in Louisiana which provided for the sale of any colored man found, for a certain time, out of work and that the former master should have preference in the purchase, He asked Mr. Hoar whether he could find any such law on the statute books of Louisia.

Mr. Hoar read from a volume of laws of Mississippi, passed in 1865, an act providing that freedmen, free negroes, and mulattoes, who were found with no lawful employment, and that all white men assembling with freedmen, free negroes and mulattoes, or usually associating with them on terms of equality, should be deemed vagrants, and should be subject to punishment by fine and imprisonment. That law, he said, contained the two provisions to which he had referred, and he thought that substantially the same law had been enacted in Louisiana.

The Blair education bill came up as unfinished business and Blair took the floor, but yielded it to Mr. Call who asked leave to offer a preamble and resolution in reference to the nomination of Judge Swayne and District Attorney Stripling of Florida.

After the reading of the long preamble, Mr. Chandler made the point of order that the resolution referred to executive business and that point having been sustained, Mr. Call withdrew the resolution for the time Subsequently Mr. Hoar obtained another volume of laws of Mississippi and read from it provisions in reference to the colored people as justification of his statement.

Mr. Eustis pressed his question as to Mr. Hoar's statements yesterday, and Mr. Hoar admitted that so far as his statement concerned Louisiana, he was in error.

Mr. Sherman asked Mr. Eustic whether he did not know that the fifteenth amendment never would have been passed but for the fact that the laws of southern states were depriving the negro of his rights of citizenship. That, he said, was certainly a fact.

he said, was certainly a fact.

Mr. Eustis replied that it was his honest conviction that all reconstruction measures, all extreme legislation and constitutional amendments were adopted by the republican party for the single object of Africanizing the south and maintaining political supremacy, and he characterized it as the "greatest crime ever committed against civilized communities."

JOHN SHERMAN'S SPEECH Mr. Sherman then took part in the discus sion, which soon became a heated political controversy. He said that when the civil war was ended there was a universal feeling in the morth that the best way to solve the difficulties of the time was to restore to the people of the south their state governments with all powers attached thereto, with the limitation and qualattached thereto, with the limitation and qualification of protecting the rights of all citizens, black and white. It had not been contemplated, at that time, to arm the negro with suffrage. But the laws of some of the southern states had been so unjust to the colored people and so unjust to the white republicans in the south, that the people of the north became convinced that the object in the south was to overthrow the results of the war and to denvive the freed. that the object in the south was to overthrow the results of the war and to deprive the freed-men of all the rights of citizenship. When the time had come that it was seen that there was no way to protect the emancipated people except by arming them with suffrage, congress had reluctantly, slowly, but deliberately, adopted that remedy as the only one fitted for adopted that remedy as the only one fitted for the case. There had been no feeling of pas-sion or hate about it. He (Sherman) had sometimes thought that it might possibly have been better not to have adapted the fifteenth amendment conferring suffrage on the col-ored man because that right had been nullified and uprooted. The right of suffrage and uprocted. The right of suffrage did not now exist with the colored man whereever it might be valuable to them. The result of the fitteenth amendment was practically to give to the southern states increased representation in the house of representatives and increased power in the electoral college. If there was anything wrong in the situation of southern affairs, the people of the south had brought it on themselves.

After some further remarks, Mr. Sherman said: "Let me say to the senators on the other side, in all seriousness, that there is a feeling in the north that injustice has grown out of the fifteenth amendment, and that not only have the negroes of the south been deprived of their votes, but that the people of the south now enjoy larger political power than the same number of people of the north. You have thirty odd mombers of the house of representatives based upon negro representation, and now let the south do as it ought to do. Let it obey the based upon negro representation, and now let the south do as it ought to do. Let it obey the constitutional amendments. Let it give the negro his vote and permit him to vote as he will. We are not there to control him. We are not there to drive him, and I would not are not there to drive him, and I would not care if the whole of the negroes would vote the democratic ticket. But this feeling of injustice does prevail in the north, a feeling that, while you are depriving the colored people of their votes, you are exercising an undue power in the government. And until that is remedied, either through the negro voting, or through the negro being excluded from the basis of representation, there never will be a feeling of content and equality among the people of the northern states.

"And now you complain of us. For what?"
For injustice, wrong, violence, or bloodshed?

For injustice, wrong, violence, or bloodshed? No. You complain of us that we hate you. We deny the hatred, but we demand justice, For injustice, wrong, violence, or bloodshed? No. You complain of us that we hate you. We deny the hatred, but we demand justice, and until the southern states give these colored people their rights under the constitution, there will be disquiet and discontent, and a feeling of injustice. I trust that the time will come when even this feeling will disappear, and when every man shall have the right to vote. And I now say that, beyond and above this educational bill, or any other pending measure, is an act of congress that will secure to every man in the United States who is entitled to vote, his right to cast his vote, and have it counted. Whenever congress rises to the dignity of passing such a law that will be uniform throughout the United States, affecting Massachusetts and Ohio as well as South Carolina and Mississippi, every man will feel that it is a just and fair law, and there will be no further ground of complaint. Congress cannot exercise any control in local affairs in the southern states, and does not claim the right to do so, but what we insist upon is that there shall be a law that will be executed with such power that no man dare expose himself to its penalties,

BUTLER REPLIES TO SHERMAN. THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT WAS

BUTLER REPLIES TO SHERMAN.

Mr. Butler replied to Mr. Sherman. He said that if debate had accomplished nothing else, it had shown by the statement of the senators from Ohlo and Massachusetts that suffrage had been conferred upon the negro of the south, not because he was qualified to exercise it, but because of certain laws passed by some of the southern states immediately after the war. There was, for instance, the black code in his own state, which he was very glad to be able to say, he had voted against in the legislature because he thought it unwise, and because there was no justification for such laws. He thought that they were as unwise as had been the laws of Massachusetts and Connecticut, which sent men to the stake because of their religious belief or for witchcraft. The admission of the senator from Ohio, he thought, would go a long way in throwing light on any further discussion as to the right of the negro to vote in the south.

Referring to the administration of President Lohnson Mr. Rutler said that one of the BUTLER REPLIES TO SHERMAN.

the south.

Referring to the administratiou of President Johnson, Mr. Butler said that one of the most unfortunate days that had ever come over the country was the day that brought about a conflict between the chief executive and the legislative departments of the United States. President Johnson had insisted that his policy should be carried out in the south. He had said: "This is my policy. I say, as commander-in-chief of my policy. I say, as commander-in-chief of the army of the United States, that this shall the army of the United States, that this shall be the settlement on which you are to return. He (Mr. Butler) had acquiesced in that, and then he had been met with the conflict between President Johnson and the legislative department of the government which had inaugurated another policy of its own. Between the upper and nether millstones, between the executive policy on the one side and the legislative policy on the other the south had been ground to powder.

OUTRAGES IN THE NORTH. OUTRAGES IN THE NORTH.

Mr. Butler went on to speak of the exclusion of colored men in the northern states from all political offices, and said that on the contrary there was no discrimination in the laws of South Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana or Georgia against a man on account of his race, color, or previous condition of servitude, and that a number of colored men in those states were holding offices today, and in those states were holding offices today, and one colored man was representing a district of North Carolina. So that he would say to the senator from Ohio, who had remarked with such a patronizing attitude, that the south should do so and so, that if the northern states would do right to the colored people, a good deal of feeling would disappear. This very day, and this very hour, and for the last week, the newspapers had been teeming with accounts of white men in the territory of Oklahoma (and republicans among them) announcing to the world that if the colored people dared to assert their rights to control that territory, by reason of their superiority of numbers, they would drive them out at the point of the bayonet. He had seen within the last month on account of outrages upon colored people in Ohio and Indiana, and of their being pursued to death by white mobs; and yet he point of the bayonet. He had seen within the last month on account of outrages upon colored people in Ohio and Indiana, and of their being pursued to death by white mobs; and yet he had not heard one syllable of protest. He believed that the great body of people of the north were kindly disposed toward the people of the south, and that that kindness had been very much stimulated by the fact that millions of money were being sent into the south for investment, and he would tell the senator from Ohio that whenever he attempted to carry out his threat of another crusade upon the south, through supervisors and United States marshals for the purpose of dominating elections here, he would have a fire in his rear from men who had carried their money and their industry into the south. Those people would be found side by side, shoulder to shoulder, through evil report and good report, in preserving in those southern states the same character of government that existed there today. That was because they understood and knew that it was through the power and influence of just such governments that their investments in the south could be preserved. The senator would find, whenever he attempted to re-establish in the south those reconstruction governments which had left in their train the black mark of spoliation, of disgrace and humiliation, and which would always be a reproach to the history of this country, a protest in his own state and in his own country, that would cause him to hesitate before he carried it out to the fullest extent. He (Mr. Butler) would not exchane one hour of good order in the south for all the political power to the north, and wish the north God speed in the solution and management of it. He appealed to the senators, and he appealed to the people of the north, to believe southern men when they said that they were far more interested in an orderly, humane, honest settlement of the question than the people of the act.

nterested in an orderly, humane, honest setlement of the question than the people of the orth could possibly be. This closed the discussion, and then the senate went into executive session, and at 5:15 adjourned until tomorrow.

The amendment adopted in committee of the whole, providing that section 3139 revised statutes (prohibiting the introduction intoxicating liquors into Indian territory) shall be in force in Oklahoma until after the ad-journment of the first session of the legislative sembly, was agreed to—yeas 134, nays 103.

journment of the first session of the legislative assembly, was agreed to—yeas 134, nays 103.

The bil was then passed—160 to 25. It is a substitute for the senate bill on the same subject. The bill contains provisions which, in substance, fix the boundartes of ihe new territory so as to include the Cherokee outlet, with a proviso that no lands which the Indians occupy, under treaty or law, shall be included without their consent, except for judicial purposes. They extend over the new territory, the constitution and laws of the United States and the code of Nebraska, without interference with the local Indian governments, acting under their treaty rights, provide for the appointment of the usual territorial officers and the election of a legislative assembly as soon as the governor shall order, and requires the voters to be bona fide residents for at least sixty days preceding the election. The council is to consist of thirteen members and the house of representatives of twenty-six members, which may be increased to thirty-nine, and the first session is to continue not longer than 120 days. Seven counties are established, which are to be defined by the secretary of the interior, until otherwise provided by the assembly. The county seats are to be at Guthrie, Oklahoma City, Norman, Lisbon or Kingfisher, Beaver, Stillwater and one more to be fixed by the secretary of the interior. Provision is made for the establishment of supreme and district courts.

The sections after No. 24 are devoted to the establishment of a judicial system in Indian territory, which is to be divided into three districts, and courts are to be held at Muscogee and Vinita, Otoka and Ardmore, and Purcell.

The house then, at 5 o'clock, adjourned. Salt rheum, with its intense itching and burn-ing, is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Many who were formerly severe sufferers have reason to thank "the peculiar medicine."

THE BOSTON IDEALS SEASON WAS BRILLIANTLY INAUGURATED.

Company Which Excels Anything
Ever Before Secretary Sefore Seen in Atlanta-"Lucia" Tonight.

The Boston Ideal Opera company is undoubtedly the best operatic organization which has yet visited Atlanta.

The principals are easily the first on the American stage; the chorus and the orchestra are worthy the principals; and their joint productions are the most nearly perfect of any operatic productions of this day and generation.

That is strong praise but everybody in the large audieuce which, despite bad weather, greeted the company last night will echo it.

Verdi's charming opera "Regoletto" was the bill for the opening night.

The company, presents wonderful attractions this season in L'Allemand and Mertens.

It is impossible to speak of L'Allemand's interpretation of Gilda with unwarrantable praise. From her entrance she won the sympathy and hearts of her audience, and the climax during the fourth act was almost electrical upon her hearers. Atlanta audiences may be lavish during the fourth act was almost electrical upon her hearers. Atlanta audiences may be lavish with their applause, but seldom has any star been received with such enthusiasm. Her dramatic power is unusual in a lyric artist, and when is added to this a voice of such wonderful ability, one can with the utmost confidence predict for her a career as brilliant as has ever fallen to the lot of prima donna.

All the roles were superbly sustained. Mr. Baxter, whose splendid tenor has charmed audiences from ocean to ocean, suffered from a severe cold, and was not, therefore, in his usual voice. Still his Duke of Mantna was a thoroughly artistic performance, and was highly enjoyed.

performance, and was highly enjoyed.

Mertens, as Rigoletto, proved a great favorite. His splendid baritone was fully equal to the requirements of the role and the audience manifested its appreciation by frequent applause.

Miss Bella Tomlins, the contralto, proved a thoroughly delightful Maddalena; while the magnificent basso of Miranda added much to the musical strength of the company.

The chorus singing was remarkable for its excellence. Chorus and orchestra are under the leadership of Tomasi, one of the best directors in the operatic world, and they show the training of the master hand.

Tonight, Chevalier Scavel, the famous tenor, will be heard for the first time in Atlanta. He will be heard for the first time in Atlanta. He sings in "Lucia" tonight, and in "Faust" at Saturday's matinee. Saturday night, Manager Greenwall announces that both his prima donnas will be heard, "Carmen" being the bill.

Lucid de Lammerman.......M'lle L'Allemand.
Of course everybody should see and hear the Ideals. Manager Greenwall has brought to Atlanta what is certainly a most delightful treat—a company whose equal cannot be found in America.

THE HIBERNIANS. A Meeting of the St. Patrick's Day Committee

Last Evening.

The committee of the Hibernian Benevolent society to make arrangements for the celebra-tion of St. Patrick's day, met in Hibernian hall last night.

hall last night.

The arrangements were perfected for a grand celebration of the festival of green Erin's patron, on Monday, March 17th. The Hibernians will celebrate St. Patrick's day in an appropriate manner. In the morning the members of the society will repair to the characteristic parts.

members of the society will repair to the church of the Immaculate Conception, where mass will be celebrated, followed by a sermon from Rev. Luther Schredwell.

In the afternoon the annual election of officers of the association will occur, and at 8 o'clock in the evening the banquet will begin.

There will be specches, songs and toasts, and a general merrymaking, in which a number of the most prominent Irish citizens will participate.

City of Mexico, March 13.—The volcano of CITY OF MEXICO, March 13.—The volcano of Cohino, which towers above the town of that name and the half dozen villages at its base is now in a state of eruption and people are beginning to flee for their lives fearing another outbreak similar to that which caused such great loss of life and property in 1869.

Since the middle of December the volcano has manifested recovered exists.

has manifested renewed activity, which has increased in violence continually until now a long trail of smoke crowns the crater and sulphurous odors fill the atmosphere, while Cohino and the surrounding villages are showered with cinders from the top until the streets are covered.

To add to the discomfort and dismay of the To add to the discomfort and dismay of the inhabitants, earthquakes are of daily occurrence. Some of the houses have great rents in their walls and others threaten to topple upon their inmates. As the commotion is increasing people are leaving and their sufferings are great.

Already the town of Le Verbehvere here

Already the town of La Yerbabuena has Already the town of La Yerbabuena has been entirely deserted by its inhabitants on account of the devastation which the eruptions and earthquake shocks have wrought and the fear that the whole town will be wiped out by the disturbances. The newspapers in the vicinity are urging the Mexican government to remunerate those who have been compelled to leave everything behind them, and are impoverished, and to supply the means of forming new settlements in less dangerous localities. It is stated that an American scientific expedition is being formed to visit the locality during these disturbances, with a view to study luring these disturbances, with a view to study the geologic causes of these periodical eruptions.

One of the severest of them, before the conquest of Mexico, entirely melted a meuntainin that vicinity, whose relics are known at present at El Pedregal and which presents beneath a thin crust of earth a mass of solid lava no one knows how thick. It is safe to presume by the progress ve increase of the eruptions and the earth's quacking since they first began three months ago, that a terrible devastation is to be wrought, from which the inhabitants for miles around are fleeing.

The Final Test of the Pneumatic Guns of the Cruiser Vesuvius.

The Final Test of the Pneumatic Guns of the Cruiser Vesuvius.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 13.—The final test of the three pneumatic guns of the dynamite cruiser, "Vesuvius," was made today. The cruiser was towed from her dock at Camp's ship yards this morning, to a point in Delaware river opposite Marcus Hook, and was brought back at 8 o'clock tonight. Although the result of the test will not be made public until a report is made to the secretary of the navy, it is understood to have been satisfactory in all respects. Those on board were Commander Royal B. Bradfoad, of the cruiser "Philadelphia," Lieutenant Commander Henry W. Maney, and Lieutenant Seton Schroeder, who, it is said, will command the "Vesuvius," comprising the official trial board, appointed by Secretary Tracy; President Schuyler, of the Pneumatic Dynamite Gun company, and three engineering experts, headed by Captain Rapieff, until recently of the Russian army.

One explosive shell, weighing two hundred pounds, and filled with gun cotton, was fired from each gun, and in addition several wooden bombs were discharged. The firing was done over a measured mile, and the projectiles are said to have gone, in some instances, a third of a mile beyond the required distances. This was accomplished with the pressure of mill pounds. Three different fuses were used, the first being timed to explode a projectile in five and one-half seconds, and the last immediately upon touching the water. The shock from the latter, it is said, was felt in the city of Chester four miles distant. While the firing was going on Commander Bradford and Lieutenant Maney, were on a tug watching the course of the projectiles, while Lieulenant Schroeder remained on the vessel to observe the action of the guns. The explosion of each of the three loaded shells was followed by a violent commotion in the water, and those who witnessed the firing say no vessel could withstand the force shown. Today's test was the final one, as far as the guns are concerned. They have been previously tested fo

The great Anglo-Saxon race in its march towards civilization, stripped the American Indian of his land, and established a government that has challenged American initian of his land, and established a government that has challenged the admiration of the world. In this progressive undertaking the white man obtained from his red brother a medicine that is as favorably known to the civilized world, as the American Government. S. S. S. is now taken and endorsed by every nationality. If in our conquest of America, we had gained nothing but the receipt of this valuable medicine, the good it has done to suffering humanity is of itself alone, worth the hardship endured, and the loss of life in making this conquest.

Mr. L. Watts, Westminister Chambers, Victoria St., Westminister, S. W., says:—For over two years I have been suffering from a disfiguring and chronic affection of the skin, which was a source of great annoyance to me. I have tried every method, including treatment at a skin hospital, and many remedies, without the least benefit. After using S. S. for a few months the skin cleared up, the blotches disappeared, and there was no trace of the disease left. My general health improved and I gained in flesh while curing the skin disease.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 14, 1890.

Canadian Independence. It is impossible to doubt the existence of a strong feeling in Canada in favor of independence. A league is being organized in every part of the dominion with the avowed object of separating the country from Great Britain in 1892.

The friends of Canadian independence are having an easy time. They advocate their scheme in the newspapers and on the platform and in their clubs. The British government takes no notice of the movement. There are no spies watching the revolutionists, and no threats of the prison or the scaffold have been made by the powers that be.

It is quite possible that Great Britain does not seriously object to what is going on. Canada has been nursed and aided by the British government. She has paid no tribute, but has swallowed the money of the mother country. She is an overgrown, wilful and expensive daughter, and if she now goes her own way nobody will care.

A rash uprising would no doubt be resisted by the crown, but when Canada as a whole is ready to set up for herself, it is probable that she will be allowed to go in peace. It is natural that the Canadians should desire independence, and they may count upon a reasonable degree of sympathy in the United States. But our people are not going to get excited over the matter. We know very well that our neighbors are not oppressed or suffering. They are doing very well, and if they go into the revolutionary business they must take care of themselves, without looking to us for help.

Kate Field's Idea.

Miss Kate Field's new paper at the capital is a very lively weekly. It is spirited, fear less, and original, and it ought to be a sug cess, for a paper that will tell the whole truth in Washington is a gem too precious to be lost.

Even the little touches of femininity are delightful-the little evidences that a woman's way is not to be disguised even by fringes of cold type. Miss Kate is not pleased with the house of representatives. She visited it not long ago, when Speaker Reed was calling the house to order through his nose, and she describes the place as a

This is purely a feminine comparison When did Miss Field ever see a congregation of bears disgrace itself by bellowing, and bawling, and snorting? The manager of a zoological garden would not tolerate such riotous proceedings for an instant. If he did not have a remedy, he would invent one on the spot.

Miss Kate has a remedy, which is in the nature of another tribute to her sex. She says that the way to stop such riots as she witnessed on the floor of the house is for the government to stop paving the congress. men their wages until they show a disposition to behave themselves. This is delight ful. It is an illuminating touch. We wonder what shape the "government" has taken in the charming Miss Kate's mind. Is it a huge affair that has set itself apart, as it were, with unlimited powers.

Miss Field's government has no existence Unfortunately for the country at this juncture, when a republican congress is preparing to use up the surplus and create a deficit, the very men who were rippiting and rioting on the floor of the house have the keys of the treasury. They not only have control of their own wages, but control the money of the people.

A School Book Trust.

Among the recently formed trusts is one composed of the publishers of school books. If this combination is successful, it will be one of the most expensive and vicious trusts that the people have yet had to contend with. For many years the school book business has been so managed that it amounts to an ofensive tax on the public.

By some arrangements with the teachers of the country, the people are yearly gouged out of millions of dollars in the purchase of text books. The teachers and superintendents may or may not be perfectly innocent in the matter of changing text-books, but it is certain that the people have been terribly imposed on. Georgia, fortunately, has been free from the worst features of the school book traffic, but in some of the northern and western states some scandalous exposures

The combination of publishers will now enable them to gouge the people worse than ever, unless the necessities of the people suggest a remedy.

Probably a Mistake.

The New York Saturday Review, which is a recent venture in journalism, if we mistake not, drops into the discussion of the negro question in a manner quite free and familiar, taking to task a New Orleans paper that it calls the Times for suggesting that a more intimate knowledge of the situation at the south-so far as it affects the relations between the races-would help certain northern editors to a clearer understanding of the subject.

The Saturday Review remarks that the race question is not sectional, and it will find no southern editor to disagree with it. In fact, the national character of the question has been insisted on by the papers here, and has been advanced as the main reason why its discussion should be stripped of partisanship and prejudice. The editor of the Saturday Review need not be told that prejudice is based on ignorance, and partisanship in sectional matters or something

The race question is emphatically a national question, and the whole country is vitally interested in its proper, peaceful and just solution. It is for this reason that the south protests against its discussion from a an point of view. It is a question that has no proper place in ordinary party politics. It constitutes an issue that is larger and more important in its bearings than any of the current issues of the day.

What the south, and all thoughtful persons object to is the average republican method of discussion—the tendency to make a party and sectional issue out of the race question. We are of the opinion that the Saturday Review has misunderstood the paper that it calls the Times, for the southern people gladly welcome any suggestion that s not made from the standpoint of the party hack.

A Plucky Claimant.

The alleged Arthur Orton, who, some years ago, found his way to prison after failing to prove that he was Sir Roger Tichborne, is both plucky and persistent. Tichborne, as he calls himself, was cently nominated for parliament, but his failure to deposit money for the election expenses caused the nomination to be cancelled. The incident shows what a strong hold the man has upon a certain class of people in England.

After all, the claimant may be the real Sir Roger. When he made his appearance in England in 1865 Sir Roger's mother recognized him as her son. He was also identified by an officer who had served in Tichborne's regiment. He showed a remarkable knowledge of family matters. But he also displayed a strange ignorance of important facts. He had forgotten all his Latin, and his regiment. Then Charles Orton expressed his belief that he was his brother Arthur. So after years in court he lost his civil, suit, and was convicted in a criminal prosecution and sent to prison.

In spite of his bad luck, thousands of pe ple believe that the ex-convict is the genuine Sir Roger Tichborne. In his old are he manages to live comfortably upon the contributions made by his friends, and the nomination to a seat in parliament shows that they have strength and influence. Perhaps it is just as well for him that he dropped ou of the race. His appearance in the house of commons under the name of Roger Tichborne would be sure to bring upon him another prosecution.

The northern Methodists seem to be termined to stir up strife and bitterness. At the recent dedication of their new boo building the St. Louis Christian Advocate reports one of their speakers as saying:

"As to our ouccupancy of the south, that is a set-tled question. We are there and the recent outrages ommitted against some of our missionaries will not cause us to call a retreat. The 'Joiner inue to preach the gospel of equality for all men he cruelties inflicted on the colored people of the outh must cease; they are citizens; they are there stay. The emigration of the whites of the south would be less demaging in many localities that that of the blacks, as there would be removed a more bloodthirsty and a less industrious element. The south must become as safe a place of residence for both colored and white, as is the north, and the Methodist Episcopal church mus lo its part ip bringing about this desirabi

So this is the programme of these apostles of hate. They propose to force their "gospel of equality" upon us. They uphold and glorify Joiner, who was driven from North Carolina for advocating social equality. They openly say that if one race in the south must seek homes elsewhere they prefer to see the whites go, as they are "more blood-thirsty and less industrious" than the Country Fairs.

A number of flourishing counties in the state have begun this early in the season to agitate the question of local fairs next fall, and considerable enthusiasm has been worked up wherever the matter has been mentioned. The newspapers of progressive towns, alive to the interests of the people, have taken the subject in hand and are doing what they can to awaken interest in it. This is a move in the right direction, and we are pleased to see that it meets with the general approval of the farmers. The matter being brought home to them at this time, it will, perhaps, be an incentive to renewed effort on their part in the production of the fruits of the farm, in the care and raising of fine stock to capture the county prizes, and it is likely to stimulate them to greater exertions in all directions. Georgia is a famous state for fairs; we have them every year, from the great expositions to the less pretentious groupings of the state's resources in the country towns; but so great are these resources, so rapid our industrial growth, it seems we can never have too many exhibitions of this character, and each in turn serves its purpose and adver tises Georgia to the world.

So let the country newspapers keep the subject before the people. Every county that can afford a local fair should have one, and we are persuaded that every county in the state is rich enough to have something of the kind, whether it be a Piedmont expo sition, or a pine forest party-where the products of the section, however great or small, could be displayed to the satisfaction and encouragement of the people.

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD HOLDS AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

A Circular Issued to the Chairmen of the atisfaction Over Editor

A meeting of great importance was held yes terday morning by the executive board of the State Farmers' Alliance. When the board meets in executive session the action they take is generally considered of a private nature. If, however, any policy is adopted of general interest to the public, nel Corput, chairman of the exec neither Colo

Action was taken yesterday morning which is of vital interest to every voter in the state, and when the meeting adjourned at 12 o'clock Colonel Corput was ready to make the facts public, which he did to THE CONSTITUTION. Colonel Corput quietly called the meeting of the executive board several days ago. As it was uncertain if any important action would be taken it was decided that there should be no public advertisement and outside of the executive committee, which is composed of Colonel Corput, chairman, and A. F. Pope, I.

Very few people knew that a meeting was contemplated.

Colonel L. F. Livingston, the president of the State Alliance, was also present at the meet-ing, and at his invitation the following gentlenen took part in the debate: Vice-Pre Everet, Colonel Farar, of Dahlonega; Dr. McCune. of Washington, Colonel Sl Texas; W. AFTERNOON SESSION.

When the executive board met in the after

When the executive board met in the afternoon, the same gentlemen who took part in the morning's debate were prosent. The subject under discussion concerned the policy of the Alliance Farmer, the official organ of the order, in regard to railroad matters.

No official confirmation of what took place could be obtained. The Constitution learned, however, on good authority that some of the leaders of the alliance had taken exceptions to Editor Brown's editorial on the railroad situation and especially to that part of it which said:

"The Southern Alliance Farmer will not purticipate in the local railroad fight in Georgians a participate." of it which said:

gia as a partisan."

It was also learned on the same authority It was also learned on the same authority that Colonel Corput represented the displeased party, and all the differences were explained by a written statement submitted by Editor Brown, in which he explained that when he asserted that the Alliance Farmer would not participate in the local railroad fight in Georgia, the meaning was that they would not take part in a partisan fight for any corporation or any newspaper, but would always be found any newspaper, but would always be found battling for the people.

The fattest man in the national congress at Washington, is the Hon. George Barnes, of Georgia. He weighs a trife over 450 pounds, is nearly six feet tall, and from the center of his spine to the waistcoat button, which rests over the center of his front, he measures three feet seven and one-half inches. His flesh is solid, and he carries it well. An American newspaper publishes a calculation showing that the total weight of the members of the house of representatives is in the neighborhood of 50,000 pounds. "At this rate," the newspaper remarks, "the nation pays for the congressional animal show at the rate of $500 (£000) per pound a year. Estimating them at an average height of 5 feet 5 inches, their total height is 1870 feet and the average annual cost is $1,500 (£300) a foot. It is the dearest beef and brain that was ever sold or hired by weight."

From the Montgomery Evening Journal.

Braffey, of The Atlanta Constitution, has made another scoop in the celebrated Hawes case. Just before he was taken out of his cell to the gallows, Hawes handed Bruffey a letter and requested him to give it to his brother, Jim Hawes, after he (Dick) was hanged, and not until then. Bruffey solemnly promised to comply with the request, and kept his promise sacred in every particular. The letter is not wild, raving, incoherent, as such letters usually are, but displays a sane though cold and sordid mind. In many respects it is a remarkable letter.

He Wouldn't be Lonely. "I believe my mind is leaving me," he sadly remarked, running his fingers through his hair. "Well, don't fret," cheerfully replied his

OTH THESE MUCH-DESIRED IM-PROVEMENTS ARE ASSURED.

Action Taken by the Richm Terminal—Some News That Will Be Most Welcome.

Here is glorious news for Atlanta. Here is the first authoritative announce

First, a new depot for Atlanta. This is to be built by the Richmond Terminal company. 1250,000 has been approprited to comm

Second, a belt line from the Georgia Pacific Howell's station, around the city to the Central railroad. To secure the right of way the sum of $200,000 has been appropriated by the Terminal company.

And, in addition to the above, several important changes in the workings of the rail-roads, all destined to aid Atlanta. Glorious news, indeed!

First-The Depot.

Last week some of the greatest work ever tone for Atlanta was accomplished.

Atlanta's need for a new passenger depot has long been recognized by the gentlemen intersted in the Richmond Terminal company who are most interested in Atlanta, and at the pecent meeting in New York they succeeded bringing the matter to a head.

The company determined to build the new lepet in Atlanta, and appropriated a quarter of a million dollars with which to commence his work.

Now as to the location.

The exact point at which this new depot will be located cannot be given, but it is known that it will be at some point in the triangle which stretches from Mitchell street to the foot of Alabama street and the Western and Atlantic freight depot,

The new depot will be modeled after the famous depot of the Pennsylvania railroad at Philadelphia. It will have a frontage of fourhundred feet, running back a sufficient distance to accommodate all of the passenger trains now coming into the city of Atlanta, and all that may come in for the next ten

In the discussion before the Terminal board It was insisted that it was proper for the company to build only enough depot room for its own system. This was, however, overruled, and it was determined to build a depot large enough for all the passenger trains now coming into the city, for an increased number of trains that might come in on the present system, and for all other contemplated roads that might come in during the next ten years.

The depot, when built, will be sufficient to accommodate one hundred trains going and coming daily-this not counting the accommo dation trains. This will give ample room for all the trains that come into Atlanta for the next five years. At the same time, it has been arranged in the construction of this depot for the accommodation of any additional trains that may be needed up to one hundred and fifty going and coming daily.

Second-The Belt Line. The $200,000 appropriated to secure right of way for the belt line insures the construction of that most important link in the city's system of railroads. The line as mapped out is, speaking generally, from the Georgia Pacific, at Howell's Station, near Van Winkle's, around the city to some point on the Central railroad.

The right of way has been practically secured. It is not yet determined whether the line will touch the Central at or near East Point, or whether it will come in between Atlanta and Fort Mc-

The persons who hold land around East Point have so raised their ideas of the value of their property that it is almost impossible to go directly into East Point. It is possible that ne will be diverted there, and get in toward Hapeville. It is unfortunate that the owners of property are so high in their prices as to divert a line that will be of value to the whole section, but the necessity for such diversion, can be easily understood when it is explained that parties who were once willing to take $50 an acre for land, have now raised their figures to $500 an acre, and are not satisfied even with that. The road from the Terminal through Howell to the Central has been forced further out than was necessary, on account of the high prices of land nearer At-

For Manufacturing Sites.

It is the purpose of the railroad to build a double track from Howell across to the Central and to furnish a site there to any bona fide manufacturer who desires to locate on the line. In addition to this, the manufacturers there will be given exactly the same rates that Atlanta gets.

It is asserted, by those who understand the situation, that this expenditure alone will add from 25,000 to 30,000 inhabitants in and around Atlanta. Every facility will be furnished manufacturers and residents of this section: dummy lines will be extended to this line, and everything that is possible will be done for this new suburb of manufacturers.

To Whom Credit is Due. These are some of the matters accomplished at the late railroad meeting in New York, and some of those that are developing. It is certainly gratifying to know that the great railroad systems are beginning to appreciate Atlanta. Atlanta has never had a tronger representation in the railroad lirectories than now. Active men are looking out for Atlanta and they are not losing sight of the city's interests in the great system of railroads that centers here. To Mr. Patrick Calhoun are we of Atlanta very greatly indebted for our present achievements. He was ably assisted by Atlanta's directors, who stood by him in all discussions and who aided materially in the accomplishment of the expenditures that are to be made in and around Atlanta during the coming

These movements on the part of the railroads are certainly very liberal, especially when the great opposition with which railroad progress in this state has been met.

Now Some Changes.

Some important changes in schedules of railroads coming to Atlanta can be announced. These are changes arranged specially to acommodate people who desire to come to Atlanta from points along roads centering here, and leaving Atlanta, to return the same day. On Sunday week an accommodation train ill be put on the East Tennessee, from tlanta to Rome, leaving Atlanta at 6 o'clock to take the South Alabama division, so as to cover portions of Alabama.

On the same day we will have an early norning train on the West Point railroad to Opelika, so that people can run down the Atlanta and West Point road, and return in the evening.

Very soon a change of schedule will be made on the Georgia Pacific. This road is now running at a very great disadvantage, but will then come in for a part of the travel that it is now losing by the miserable hedule that they are running.

. Under the new East Tennessee schedule, persons who desire to go to Anniston—until there is a change made on the Georgia Pacific -can go by the East Tennessee road to Rome, and get to Anniston before the present schedule train on the Georgia Pacific leaves. It would seem advisable for all parties leaving in the day to take that route until proper accommodations are furnished on the Georgia Pacific. The East Tennessee road is in better condition than the Georgia Pacific, and its schedule is much more reliable, and while the route is round about, the time is better and much quicker from Atlanta to Anniston via Rome, than by the more direct routes.

THE PURCHASE MADE,

And It Is Now Known Where the Car Works Will Be. The new car works have been located on the Air Line, just at the city limits, north of Inman park. Twenty-two acres lying partly in and partly outside the city were bought by President Peck, and a force of hands are at work digging for the foundation. It is expected that the works will be turning out four or five cars a day within three months. Repair work will be done on passenger coaches, and street cars, as well as boxes and flats and refrigerators will be built. The street car business is expected to be an important feature, as the demand for them in the south is enormous, and there are no factories anywhere near. Box cars are worth $500 to $600; street cars, $500 to $1,500, and refrigerators, $800 to $1,000.

Watches and Diamonds Found in Tea and Coffee-A Novel Way of Introducing Goods.

The names of all persons finding diamonds, watches, etc., are added to the list daily. The Overland Tea company, of San Francisco, Cal., have refitted the store, No. 43 Peachtree street, and in order to introduce their goods, this company will put for sixty days souvenirs in every can of tea and coffee sold, such as solid gold, silver and nickel watches, also genuine diamonds in solid gold setting; also money and many other articles of less value. Every can contains a souvenir. The coffee, can and contents weigh about three pounds; tea, can and contents weigh about three pounds; tea, can and contents about one and one-half pounds. This expensive and novel way of advertising will be discontinued after sixty days, and these really choice goods will be sold strictly on their merits, out without the souvenir. Of course every purchaser must not expect to get a diamond or watch. This company claim that they have just as good a right to give away watches, diamonds or other jewelry and money as their competitors have to give away glassware, chromos, etc. Get up a club. Those who get up a club order most always get a handsome present. Orders by mail promptly forwarded to all parts of the United States on receipt of cash or postoffice order. Terms: single can, $1; six for $5; thirteen for $10, and twenty-seven for $20. Address Overland Tea Company, Atlanta, Ga.

GEORGIA RAILROADS.

AN ATLANTA AND WEST POINT MORNING ACCOMMODATION.

The Bellton, Homer and Carnesville - A Rose from McDonough to Athens-All Over the State.

General Manager Tyler, of the Atlanta and West Point railroad, has ordered an accommodation train to commence running on Sunday, the 23d of March, over that road. The train will leave Atlanta about seven o'clock in the morning, and will return in the evening. This train is put on for the special purpose of accommodating people along the line. One of the most reliable conductors in the service will be put in charge of the train.

General Manager Tyler says he will give his best efforts to make it a punctual; popular train. He has had some misgivings about put ting the train on, because he fears it will lose the company money. It is the duty of the citizens along the line to give it their hearty co-operation. They have been clamoring for it for some time, and it is in deference to their wishes alone that General Manager Tyler makes this schedule. He is now preparing the schedule for the train, and will determine to what point he will run it before returning to Atlanta.

This will enable THE CONSTITUTION to give its readers along this line the benefit of an early morning delivery.

Change in the Richmond and Danville. Change in the Richmond and Danville.

Mr. Sol Haas will soon vacate the position of general traffic manager of the associated rail-ways of Virginia and the Carolinas, which he has filled since the association was formed in June, 1880. He does this to accept the position of traffic manager of the Richmond and Danville system and give his entire time in future to the business of this powerful system, which is daily extending its arms all through the southern country. Mr. Haas will be succeeded in his present position by Mr. R. D. Carpenter, who has been his assistant and chief clerk ever since the associated lines were formed. He ter, who has been his assistant and chief clerk ever since the associated lines were formed. He is an experienced and efficient railroad man. The change will be made the 1st of April. It was not positively decided until Monday that the transfer and the promotion would be made. It had been talked over in railroad circles for many months, and it was this contemplated move that gave rise to the recent rumor that Mr. Haas was to be made general manager of the Richmond and Danville and Mr. Carpenter's title that of commissioner of the associated railways. The idea of making this change is to avoid confusion. The other systems will probably follow the example of the Richmond and Danville in the near future and each have its own traffic manager. The Richmond and Danville people have been trying for a long time to induce Mr. Haas to give them his entire time, and since the Georgia Pacific traffic has been increased so largely this was all the more desired. The company's business has grown so much in the south that it is desirable to have a competent man who can devote his attention entirely to looking after their business. The change will in no way affect the associated railways and the Richmond and Danville system of 3,018 miles, the Seaboard Air Line of 705 miles, and the Atantic Coast Line of 919. Mr. Haas has been connected with the Richmond and Danville railroad for fifteen years, having become its general freight agent in 1875. He ranks as one of the ablest traffic managers of the southern tastes. ever since the associated lines were formed. He

The Boom of the Southbound SAVANNAH, Ga., March 13 .- [Special.]-The projectors of the Southbound railroad, which is to run from Savannah to Blackville, South Carolina, have all the money in sight needed to build the line. A construction company will be organized about April. Grading is to start at this end. The director say it may not start right in the city, but at a point just west of it. The route surveyed for the road crosses the Savannah river at the Sisters' ferry, and continues toward the city between the river and the Central road until near the one mile post on the Central road, where it crosses to the south side of that road, and then parallels it into the city. Land on the west of the city has gone up in value since the city council made its generous offer to the South bound. There is just now a growing disposi-tion among Savannahians to invest in small industries. For instance stock is being subscribed for a canning factory, and a glass factory is to follow. Both are to go on the west side of the city.

CHARLESTON IS AROUSED. An interesting phase of Savannah's energy and enterprise, is the effect it has had on Charleston. Monday morning a letter from Savannah, telling what this city had done, was published in Charleston. It was a revelation to the earthquake city. Its business men were startled at the situation which confronted them. Meetings of the city council and chamber of commerce were called at once, and a gentleman who has just returned from Charleston, says that those two bodies have been holding meetings every day since. The very next night they gave to the East Shorel Terminal railway a right-of-way through the city's streets. They realized that the south bound will cut right through their best territory. Barnwell and Blackville ship to Charleston one-fifth of her cotton receipts. From those two towns alone Savannah will gain a splendid trade.

"Charleston men told me that they knew they could not compete with Savannah," said the gentleman quoted above. "They realize that they must be energetic, too, to hold their own, and they are willing to make liberal concessions to enterprises. Savannah's action woke Charleston up with a start."

The South Carolina railway has fought the

The South Carolina railway has fought the new South bound at every step, because the new line will divert a large part of the old road's business to Savannah. Charleston wants to buy the Carolina road when it is sold by the receiver, and Charleston parties are trying now to get hold of all the branch lines which feed. the main one. The completion of the South bound will mean millions more of trade to Bellton, Homer and Carnesville. The section of country through which the proposed route leads is thoroughly interested in this project, and the chances are safer than ever that work on the road will be actually begun this year. begun this year.

The following officers have been elected, and

The following officers have been elected, and are all hard at work now in the interests of the road: President, Madison Buice; first vice-president, Lemuel N. Tribble; second vice-president, Lemuel N. Tribble; second vice-president, Thomas F. Hill; treasurer, P. F. Farr; secretary, P. M. Edwards.

The Carmesville Tribune says:

Homer and Bellton are wide-awake on the subject, they are going to work in earnest, and in a manner that shows that the railroad is one of the certainties of the near future. A copps of engineers went to work Monday to survey a route from Belton to Tate on the Marietta railroad. The route from Belton to Homer is an excellent one, timber is plentiful along the line, and doubtless all the cross-ties will be put down as subscription to the capital stock.

The proposed Beltton and Tate and the Belton, Homer and Carnesville, connected with the Elbert Air-Line by the Carnesville and West Bow-cosville railroad will open up one of the finest sections of country in Georgia.

The people of Franklin county may now redeem themselves for lack of enterprise in not joining Carnesville to the outside world with iron bands more than fifteen years ago by completing the Carnesville and West Bowwersville railroad, and opening a great western connection by way of Homer and Bellton.

McDonough to Athens.

The talk about the extension of the Georgia Midland to Athens, has stirred up some more talk about a line from McDonough to Athens, by way of Monroe.

The Rockdale Banner makes the suggestion: "Let the New Life, Water Power and Granite Railroad company join hands with the Georgia Midland company, and thus secure a road from McDonough to Athens. There are numerous water powers on South river, Yellow river, Hanes creek, and other streams whose capacities are almost unlimited. Then there are granite beds along the line almost from McDonough to Monroe.

"What has become of the New Life company? They must speak out at this opportune time, or change their name. We need a com-peting road so as to reduce the freight on our granite, manufactured products, and farm pro-ducts. Let us have it."

Macon to Palatka.

As stated in yesterday's Constitution, the Georgia Southern and Florida runs its first through train tomorrow, Saturday, from Macon to Palatka. An excursion is arranged for the occasion. The train will leave Macon at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening and arrive in Palatka at 6:30 o'clock on the following morning. At Palatka, connection is made with the St. Augustine and Palatka railroad, which will carsy the excursionists over to the ancient city inside of an hour. A return train will leave Palatka at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, arriving in Macon at 7 o'clock the next morning. Macon to Palatka Colonel R. F. Maddox, president of the Atlanta and Florida, came home from New York yesterday.

Hunter, for the nonpayment of license, was dismissed yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. R. J. Jordan, attorney for Miss Jones, went to Acting Chief of Police Wright, and made a statement of the case to him, explaining that if she was dealing fraudulently the city had no right to issue a license, and besides she belonged to an incorporated religious denomination, and consequently could not be subjected to the payment of a license.

Chief Wright dismissed the case. So, Warchief wright dismissed the case. So, war-den Hunter will get no license fee, al-though he was probably actuated by a desire to look after the interest of the city, and at the time of making the case had heard only the sensational side of the question.

At twelve o'clock yesterday there was a big sensation on Cone street.

neighborhood, and a number of ladies hurried to the house to assist in restoring the dying woman. Dr. Dan Howell and Dr. W. F. Stockton were summoned. So soon as they arrived they found that she was not in danger of dying, and in a short while they brought her around. She claimed to have taken three ounces of landanum, and a four ounce bottle was found containing about one ounce of the deadly drug. But Dr. Howell was convinced that she had not taken three ounces, and believed that she had taken a small dose, just to frighten her daughter, with whom she had had a quarrel. The daughter was in hysterics when she found that her mother had taken laudanum, and for awhile there was a wild scene in the and for awhile there was a wild scene in the Late yesterday evening Mrs. Norton was able to be engaged in a small row with her penitent daughter, and her condition was not such as to cause much alarm.

THE JOURS STILL OUT.

THE MERCHANT TAILORS WITHOUT WORKMEN.

The Differences May Be Adjusted Today— The Jours Watching the Tailor Shops— A Compromise May Be Secured.

Tue jour tailors are still out, but there are strong indications that the trouble between them and the merchantmen will be ahjusted

So far neither jour or merchantman has shown any desire to surrender, but both have expressed a wish to end the warif mutual con cessions produce that result.

The jours held a long meeting yesterday, during which the situation was fully and freely discussed. Every one expressed a desire to return to work if the trouble could be arranged without a complete surrender on their

Neither did they demand a complete sur render by the merchantmen. At the meeting members were detailed to keep a close watch upon the shops. Throughout the day a jour stood guard in front of Lynch's, Anderson's, Kenny & Satzky's, Hirsch Bros.', Eiseman's, and Miller & Hughes', to see that no new tailors went to work, and to ascertain if any work was sent out. Out of the watching two or three funny events came.

Mr. Lynch, knowing that his store was being watched, picked up two or three large packages and walked out. A block away he saw that he was being followed, and then a game of hide and seek began. For three hours the heavy-weight merchant dodged in and out stores and turned corners, but he could not throw the jour off. The walk began to tell on Mr. Lynch, as perspiration flowed, but he kept up the exercise until he got enough of it, and then returned to his store with his packages. When he laid the bundles away and returned to the door that jour wvs standing across the street coolly wiping the perspiration from his

Mr. Miller, of Miller & Hughes, had a chase, too. Seeing that his place was being watched he had a buggy driven to his store, and into it he put several bundles. Then he got in and drove off, followed by a jour.

But the jour couldn't keep up.

The merchantmen are still taking orders and measuring, and are having some work done. Two of them sent work out of town yesterday, one to Chattaneoga and the other to Macon. One of them said yesterday:

"We do not care to oppress the tailors, and we are not going to do it. The schedule of prices we have made is a fair one, and if they can show us that it is not we will change it. That is not the trouble, however."

"Then what is the trouble?"

"A few turbulent spirits in the union. These few make the trouble. Why, they want us to agree not to hire a man who is not acceptable to them. They even want to dictate who we shall hire. If they want this trouble adjusted they can get it done."

The jours claim that they did not contemplate a strike and say that they cannot work for the prices fixed by the merchantmen.

"There would have been no trouble," said President Jacobs yesterday, "if they had done right. We only wanted extra pay for extra work, and when we asked for that, as we had a right to do, we were met with a reduced bill of prices."
"The merchant men claim that the bill is

"The merchant men claim that the bill is the same they have been paying for two years."
"That is a mistake. The bill we were working under is higher and was adopted by Kenny & Jones in March, 1887, and by Miller & Venable in October 1888. Our revised bill was not an increase except on pants and a request for extras."
"And you can't work for the figures given you?"

you?"
"No, we can't, and we are confident that the "No, we can't, and we are confident that the citizens of Atlanta will use their influence to apport us in our struggle. We are working then, working to make our living by the work of our hands. More than fifty per cent of our union are citizens of Atlanta, are tax payers who help along with the churches and every other thing. We are peaceable citizens entitled to some rights and privileges."

"I would like to say, too, that this strike was forced upon us," continued President Jacobs, "by the merchant tailors who have reduced our bill of prices. Nashville, Louisduced our bill of prices. Nashville, Louis-ville, Memphis, Knoxville, Macon and Montgomery all pay better than Atlanta.'

He Had a Typewriter Sent to His House and Then Skips Out.

The letter regarding H. H. Hill in yesterday's Constitution unearthed some other Two weeks ago Hill was in Atlanta, and talked so glibly of the fortune he had made off his furniture polish, and of the big mining in terests he was concerned in, out in the golden west, that he fooled a lot of people.

He approached Mr. A. G. Rhodes, of the Rhodes-Haverty Furniture company, and pretended to have effected an arrangement with Mr Rhodes for the organization of a stock company to push the sale of the polish. On February 27th he went to Mr. W. R.

Archer, agent for the Odell type writer, and asked that Mr. Archer send up one of the machines to his wife's room at the Johnson house for examination. Mr. Archer did so, and the man who carried the typewriter to his rooms met Mrs. Hill, who proved to be a most beautiful and fascinating lady. The typewriter was left for examination, went to Mr, Archer's office that night and ex-pressed his satisfaction in regard to the type-writer.

He had his golden-headed cane with him, with the inscription from Jefferson Davis displayed conspicuously.

After telling Mr. Richards how much he liked the writer, he remarked that he employed a large number of agents all through the country, and that numerous mistakes occurred in the covered of the second of the country.

He told Mr. Archer to send three or four of the writers up to his rooms, as he supposed Mr. Richards had plenty of them, and so soon as his agents came in he wanted to purchase eight of them.

Mr. Richards did not send them, and was thereby saved a considerable loss.

BY THE LIGHT OF THE MOON

BY THE LIGHT OF THE MOON.

The voluble Mr. Hill paid his bill at the Johnson house and left for Chattanooga, taking the type writer with him.

A constable of Chattanooga was furnished a full discription of Hill and his gold headed cane. Diligent inquiry was made for him in and around Chattanooga, but nothing could be learned concerning his whereabouts.

So far Mr. Hill has eluded the officers, but it is supposed that he is still traveling through the south, playing off the same game on those who are so credulous as to be taben in by his representations.

At any rate the exposure made in yesterday's CONSTITUTION, followed by the statement of these facts, will probably put a quietus on his little game unless he changes his methods.

ROLLED OVER AND OVER. The Queer Accident to a Railroad Man Last

Columbus Harris, who went to the Georgia railroad depot to work in the place of a carcoupler, was the victim of a queer accident

He was caught between the platform of the depot and a passing freight car, and rolled over and over. When picked up he was unconscious. Drs. Arch and Jim Avary were summoned, and did all they could for the injured was

He was badly bruised, and the physicians are in doubt as to his recovery. There is imminent danger of pneumonia, and his injuries are such as to endanger his life. At a late hour he was resting easily.

A STRANGE CASE.

MR. WILLIAM HUNT CARRIED BACK TO HIS HOME IN NEW YORK.

After Six Weeks at Providence Infirmary Hi Come to Atlanta and Find Him.

There was a dramatic scene at Providence Infirmary yesterday morning.

It was the meeting of Mr. William Hunt and his brother, Lewis Huut, of the Novelty vorks of Cincinnati. They had not met in twenty-five years, and Mr. Lewis Hunt came all the way to Atlanta in search of his brother, having heard of his isfortune.

The meeting between them, despite Mr William Hunt's condition, was one of mutual and affectionate recognition. It transpired in Mr. Brown's parlor, at the infirmary, and was so affecting that those who witnessed it could not restrain their tears, in sympathy over the

AN UNKNOWN MAN.

He was put off a Richmond and Danville passenger train on the last day of January, because he was demented and unable to give any account of himself.

He was sent to the stationhouse, where he was taken in charge and kindly cared for until he could be removed to Providence infirmary. When he arrived there he was suffering from a brain disorder and a heart trouble. Mr. Brown recognized the gravity of the situation at once, and summoned Dr. Roy. The latter began treating him and, with the aid of his medical skill, Mr. Hunt's life was saved, although his brain trouble was of such a characthough his brain trouble was of such a character that it was beyond the reach of ordinary

On two occasions only did he show any symptoms of violence. Mr. and Mrs. Brown went out to a party one evening, and Mr. Hunt began raving because Mr. Brown had left him, and it took some time to quiet him. Today a week ago, he went to the front door, alone, and being unable to find the night key, he went out through the back door, and wandered away.

Mr. Brown and his assistants instituted immediate search, and late in the afternoon, he was found away out on Whitehall street, and returned to the infirmary. Since that time Mr. Brown has kept the room door locked so that Mr. Hunt could not get out and wan-der off again.

HOW HE WAS DISCOVERED.

HOW HE WAS DISCOVERED.

Chief Connolly found a card on Mr. Hunt bearing the name of Thomas W. Bryer, furniture dealer, Providence, R. I., and telegraphed him that Mr. Hunt was here. Mr. Brown also wrote to Mr. Bryer, and the latter wrote back referring Mr. Brown to Theo. P. Fritz, of the firm of Fritz & Hummel, furniture dealers, at Brooklyn, N. Y., as a friend of Mr. Hunt's, who knew him well.

Mr. Bryer also wrote private letters to Mr.

A BRILLIANT MAN'S MISFORTUNES.
Mr. Hunt was one of the finest architects in New York. He it was who designed the Vanderbilt monument in New York. He is a bachelor and forty-three years old. At the time he became afflicted with his troubles he had some beautiful and costly casts. One piece was worth $3,000, and he had a number of other casts of great value which he destroyed. The $3,000 piece his man preserved, and when Mr. Hunt learned of its preservation, he went to him and insisted on its being destroyed, and at the same time took all his drafting boards, worth $5 apiece and stored them all away.

The Girl Horsewhipped Monday Night Four

There was a queer case at No. 22½ East Alabama street last night.

The young girl, Florence Jones, who was horsewhipped by Lou Bailey on Monday night, was attacked with a strange disorder about eight and a half o'clock last night.

She was rooming with another girl, who had a couple of young men calling on her, when a man who was formerly an intimate acquaintance of Lou Bailey, come in. He had a pet alligator in his hand, and when the Jones girl, who was lying on the bed saw him, she said:

"Oh, that is Lou Bailey's lover."
In a few minutes her room mate went to speak to her and found her unconscious. She did all she could to awaken her, and after many ineffectual attempts, called in the police.

police.
Several policemen responded, but they were unable to afford any relief, and a negro woman was sent after a physician.
Dr. Harry Huzza was found and after investigating the case decided that she had taken some sort of poison.
She was as rigid as a post in body and limb, and her eyes were closed and turned backward, but the pupils were not contracted as is usual in opium poisoning.
At 3 o'clock the girl was still living, but her chances for recovery are very precarious.

THE UNITED STATES COURTS.

The only business yesterday in United States courts was the case of Minerva Morgan vs. the East Tennessee, which was settled. The case has been in the courts for a long while.

The grand jury is in session. The Pickens county kuklux cases, so District Attorney Darnell states, have not yet been taken up, and probably will not be until next week. Besides this, there is little of interest in the grand jury's work, but an unusually large number of cases for revenue and pension law violations.

SENT TO THE ASYLUM.

MR. CHARLES S. ATWOOD ADJUDGED

He Says His Mother-in-Law Is the Cause of His Being Sent to the Asylum, Becau He Whistled When She Talked.

Charles S. Atwood will be taken to the in sane asylum at Milledgeville this morning.

He was tried before Ordinary Calhoun yeserday and adjudged of unsound mind.

Last night Mr. Atwood occupied a cell

Yesterday was the second time within the past six months that Mr. Atwood's sanity was investigated by the ordinary. On the first trial he was set at liberty, the jury failing to find him a fit subject for a lunatic asylum.

That was a Georgia jury.
Only a few weeks after his acquittal in Atlanta he was sent to the asylum by the authorities of Hartford, Conn., where he had wandered after leaving Atlanta the day of his trial and release.

At the time, the story of Mr. Atwood's strange conduct, dating from the financial wreck of the Evening Capitol, a newspaper of which he was the owner, was printed. With it, and Mr. Atwood's mysterious departure from Atlanta, and his subsequent reappea a few months ago, the public is familiar.

Altogether the story is a sad one, though throughout it has not been without an amusing side, if it can be regarded in that light. Mr. Atwood was very well known in Atlanta. For the past seven or eight years he has been a familiar figure upon the streets, and up to the time of his trouble was highly esteemed in business circles.

His insanity has never taken a violent turn, and there was no special outbreak which led to yesterday's trial. Of late he has been gradually relapsing into his condition previous to being treated at the Connecticut asylum, and his friends, deeming it a wise course, applied to Ordinary Calhoun for his admission to the asylum at Milledgeville as being the best thing that could be done for the unfortunate man.

Since his return to Atlanta Mr. Atwood has been engaged in soliciting for a local life in-

The energy and dilligence with which he levoted himself to this work is doubtless the cause of the return of his mental trouble, which was, for a time, apparently wholly dis-

Up to a week ago Mr. Atwood, who was quite successful in his insurance business, was living quietly with his wife and family. About a week ago he had some domestic trouble which entirely upset him and since then he has been occupying a room in the third story of the building occupied by Kirk's store on Peachtree street. While there his actions were so peculiar as to attract the notice of the other occupants of the building, several of whom were the leading witnesses before the ordinary's court yester-witnesses before the ordinary's court yester-day.

One of these gentlemen had observed Mr. Atwood on his knee wiping out the fire-place and chimney with his overcoat, and had seen him frequently frying large quantities of potatoes over the open grate. Mr. Atwood said he lived on fried potatoes and milk.

Mr. Atwood was visited yesterday evening at his cell in the revenue prisoners building.

He took his confinement coolly and explained that he was willing to do anything or go anywhere Mr. Bishop, his wife's attorney, thought best.

On some subjects he talked rationally enough, but on others he was plainly very muddled and incoherent.

The unfortunate man said he wanted it said above all other things that he was not crazy; that he was once a while in the hospital in Con-necticut, but he was perfectly clear now.— Mr. Atwood wanted to tell why he was tried

Mr. Atwood wanted to tell why he was tried for being crazy.

"It's because I whistled," he said. "I did whistle, but just whistled loud enough to keep from hearing what she was saying."

He referred to his mother-in-law.

"She said she would be revenged on me and send me to the lunatic asylum," he went on, "and I told her I'd whistle if she didn't hush. up. She wouldn't do it, and I whistled. I said I'd whistle, and I did. When she talked loud I whistled loud—this way."

And he began whistling something—anything but a tune—but low, then loud and "I told everybody that she would drive me crazy, and I told her so. I said she was a she devil—I don't mean a she devil, but a devil that isn't of the male sex. I understand the devil to always be a man, and I just said she was a she devil, but I didn't care a bit for was a she devil, but I didn't care a bit for her."

Mr. Atwood's complaint is that his mother-in-law has caused him to be sent to the asylum, to keep him from living with his wife.

"I love my wife," he said, "and never will love another woman. I may get married again, but I won't love any other woman. I'll just marry for a companion. Yes, I whistled—just whistled with my head between my hands—and that's the reason she says I am crazy. I guess I can whistle if I want to. I didn't wake anybody up whistling, because I asked the neighbors, and they said they didn't hear me whistling at 10 o'clock, at 12 o'clock, or at 2 o'clock. I am not crazy. But she said I was because I whistled."

Sweet and Artistic.

Mr. John Lagomarsino displays an attractive howcase, in which bon bons are shaped into pyr-mids and other designs, one of which—a cosy lit-e house—is especially unique.

The removal of Mr. Sam Fulton from the tax receiver's office and the appointment of Mr. Middlebrooks as his successor will form the ground weak for the fun. fun when it is read. "Do you kdow," he remarked yesterday as he placed the paper deep down in a pocket, "that I want to see that Fulton investigation carried a long way."

"Why so?" he was asked. "Because he isn't the only man in there who should be investigated.

"Who are the others?" "No one in particular. You see a little investigation occasionally don't hurt any one and does lots of good. This resolution of mine calls for a general investigation, and if it goes through every office and every department will be carefully looked into. It can't do any

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: Any inference that I did Mr. Fulton any injury or took any action in his case without the full sanction of the committee including consultation by the committee with the city attorney and Judge Anderson is entirely erroneous. I always admired Mr. Fulton and I would not have taken any advantage of him under any circumstances, I learned of his shortage—I called the committee, Mr., Jacob Hass, Mr. Porter King and myself together on Saturday morning. After due investigation by the committee, with the assistance of the city attorney, Mr. Goodwin and his assistant Judge Anderson, it was agreed that the city attorney should bring suit at once, as the committee was not certain where the shortage would end, and the fact that I made the affidavit was merely accidental, as the committee had already decided that if the chairman did not make it, a member of the committee would. Mr. Goodwin called me in to his office, and asked me to go with him to make the affidavit—before doing so, however, at my suggestion, I went again to see Mr. Fulton, and I went with him and assisted him in getting up funds to cover the shortage. He was informed by the city attorney that even if he paid the shortage he could not hold up the accusation, because the crime was already committed when the money was misappropriated. But just as the affidavit was made Mr. Fulton came in with the money to cover the shortage, but was told by the city attorney that he was too iate, that the affidavit had been made. But through my effort another meeting of the committee was held. Mr. King being absent, and at my urgent solicitation Mr. Fulton was allowed to go on his own reconnoissances. But for me he would have had to give bond or go to jail. Mr. Hass and I held a meeting on the 6th inst., and owing to the shortage suspended Mr. Fulton from collecting taxes in Mr. Griffin's office. As sworn officials we could got do otherwise.

otherwise. As sworn officials we could not do otherwise. As to the appointment of my brother, I had nothing to do. The tax committee left that matter with Mr. Griffin, as he was responsible for the moneys collected in his department, and he, of his own volition, appointed my brother. I never spoke, or intimated anything to him on the subject. I told my brother that owing to the fact that I was chairman of the tax committee compelled to look after the matters in this office, that I could not approach Mr. Griffin on the subject of his selection.

I deem this due to myself, as there could be an inference drawn from THE CONSTITUTION'S article that I was prosecuting Mr. Fulton for my relations. I know those who know me do not believe me capable of such conduct, and I know, furthermore, that each member of the committee, as well as every other person who has had anything well as every other person who has had anything to do with the investigation, will bear me out in this statement. I have naught against Mr. Ful-ton other than my sworn duty compels me to at-tend to in the premises. Very respectfully, W. M. MIDDLEBROOK, City Tax Committee.

It was my fortune to have served during the war for secession in immediate contact with troops from every state in our confederacy, but with none was I thrown into closer relation than with those from Georgia. Everywhere, in Virginia, in North and South Carolina, in Georgia and Florida, I had full opportunity to test their devotion to our cause and to witness their conspicuous and unsurpassed heroism; and you will therefore understand how deeply I lament that I cannot attend your reunion and shake the hands of the scarred veterans whose unselfish patriotism shed such honour upon their native state.

INVITATIONS TO THE INTERESTING And Have Been Received by Friends in Atlanta-Other News from the Society World-Gossip About People.

The early morning mails yesterday brought to many people in Atlanta the first intimation of what will prove to them, and to many others event.

This is the marriage of Mr. Howell C. Glenn. Everybody in Georgia knows Howell Glenn, and everybody will read with pleasure this first announcement of the happiness that is to be his.

The ceremony is to take place in New York city on Wednesday, the 26th inst.

The honor of your presence is requested at the marriage of Mrs. May Kitson, to Mr. Howell C. Glenn, on Wednesday, March the twenty-sixth, at half-past three o'clock. Church of the Heavenly Rest, Fifth Avenue and Forty-fifth Street. After the ceremony, from four o'clock until six,

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn will be at home to their friends at the Hotel Brunswick. Great interest is, of course, felt in the personality of the future Mrs. Glenn. Mrs. Kitson is described by those who have the honor of her acquaintance as being a most charming and beautiful young widow—an English woman by birth, but for some time a resident of New York, where she has been greatly admired. That as the wife of Howell Glenn she will be given a cordial relcome to Atlanta and Georgia, goes without

Mr. Glenn's mother, Mayor Glenn, his brother and a number of his intimate friends will attend the wedding.

Yesterday at high noon a very pretty double wedding occurred an the residence of Mr. T. G. Ashworth on Calhoun street, being the nuptials of Miss May Ashworth and Mr. Luke Minor, and Miss Carrie S. Brannan and Mr. W. M. Zirkle, of Miss Carrie S. Brannan and Mr. W. M. Zirkle, of Andersonville, Georgia. The house was elaborately decorated in palms and roses, and was brilliantly lighted by innumerable wax tapers. The bridal party entered the parlor to the beautiful strains of Meddlessohn, in the following order: Mr. S. N. Thompson and Mr. Charlie J. Brannan, Mr. G. A. Minor and Mr. Charlies Zirkle. Following them came Miss Brannan and Mr. Zirkle, then Miss Ashworth and Mr. Minor. The brides were robed in beautiful gowns. Minor. The brides were robed in beautiful gowns of white Henrietta, trimmed in lace and ribbons, and each carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley and maiden hair fern, tied with moire ribbons When they had grouped themselves artistically, the Rev. Mr. Embry, of East Point, in his impressive manner, united in marriage Miss Brannan and Mr. Zirkle. At the conclusion the Rev. Mr. Underwood, paster of St. Paul's Methodist church, began the rites, according to that church, which would unite for life Miss Ash-worth and Mr. Minor. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. W. A. Dodge. Immediately following the congratulations a bountiful dinner was served, and at 1:30 Mr. and Mrs. Zirkle left the city for their future home, Andersonville left the city for their future home, Andersonville.

IS EVERYBODY CONNECTED WITH THE PIEDMONT EXPOSITION.

resting Features of This Year's Show-The Prizes for the Military-The Chrysanthemum Show. The work of preparing for the Piedmont exposition of 1890, which opens October 15th, and closes November 1st, is now well under The directors commenced early this year in arranging the details of the exposition, believing that an early start would produce beneficial results. In consequence of this, a great deal of substantial and telling work has already been done, and much more planned out for the next month or two.

President Wylie is constantly on hand and devotes a great deal of his time to the business of the expesition. He is ably assisted by Secretary Arnold, who is always in the office pushing the work along, and when not at his desk is giving out information to visitors who call by the score almost daily.

Directors of the exposition are constantly dropping in at the office for the purpose of offering suggestions, or to give information of benefit to the management, and meetings of the board occur two or three times a week, at which much substantial work is done looking to the holding of the exposition.

The Grounds. For some weeks a large force of hands has been employed on the grounds, and now the improvements that have been made are quite noticable. Back of the club house new terraces have been built, and grass placed upon them. At the foot of the hill, where the cotton patch attracted so much attention last year, a terrace is being built running around it. A good deal of other work of a similar character has either already been done, or is under headway. One of the most noticeable improvement now being made, and one that will add greatly to the beauty of Piedmont park will be the change in the appearance of the drill ground nside the race track. This plat has been brought to an even grade, and will be planted in grass. Nearly one thousand two-horse wagon loads of manure have been upon this tract, and in, so as to make the plowed and rich. Grass seed has been generously distributed upon the ground, and when the grass makes its appearance, the Piedmont exposition will have by far the handsomest drill grounds in the south.

A Grand Drill. The directors propose to have a grand mili-tary drill and sham battle, as an important feature of the exposition. This display will last three days, and will end in a sham battle, in which all companies participating in the drill will take part. There will be offered $5,000 in preniums for the military, divided so that there will be contests for infantry, artillery, cavalry, and zonaves. The interstate prize will likely be made $1,500 and for the state drills, $1,000, will be offered for the best company. military programme will be gotten out as large as possible, and sent out, so that comphnies desiring to contest will have ample time to prepare for the drill.

The Experimental Patches. Cotton, corn and vegetables growing upon the grounds will be one of the attractive feat-ure of the show. At the last exposition our northern visitors were much interested with the cotton patch, and many of them went away with buttonhole bouquets picked from the exposition cotton field. Several acres will be devoted to raising vegetable of such varieties as are common in this section, and in a general way the agricultural products from the fields of the exposition company will

A Mammoth Engine. The directors have decided to own their motive power, and to this end, will purchase a two hundred horse-power engine, which will be used in running the machinery on the grounds. President Wylie says that the directors have about closed a contract for the handsomest engine ever brought to Georgia, and that when it is in position and running, it will make as handsome a display as a man would wish to look at.

He says that the new engine will be finer and much handsomer than the one used last year, and will do better work.

The Races The track programme is already out, and onsists of five days of trotting and ten days of The track programme is already out, and consists of five days of trotting and ten days of running races. The purses offered aggregate $9,000, and are so arranged that the money will be pretty generally divided up among the stables when the meeting is over. No one horse will have a walkover, or an open field to himself. Every one of them will have to run for the money, and this being so, the races will no doubt be a long ways above the average. Already a good many race-horse men have written inquiring letters, and many of them evincing a deep interest in the meeting. The directors are glad to see that there is some probability that the Savannah Jockey club will be reorganized, and a meeting held there in the fall. They also hope that a circuit can be arranged consisting of Savannah, Charleston, Augusta, Macon, Columbus, Birmingham, and Montgomery, believing that many meetings will bring more horses, and the more horses the more good racing.

horses, and the more horses the more good racing.

In a few days the management will receive 10,000 premium lists, and in a few weeks they will have 10,000 of the handsomest lithographs ever seen in the south. The printing matter to be put out this year, is far superior to what was used last year. The designs are much handsomer and more appropriate, and the work is of a superior quality.

The programmes for the crysanthemum show are now being sent out, and are greatly in demand. It is held that, to raise crysanthemums for a display, new wood should be used every year. In the fall, cuttings should be placed in a hot-house, and these planted in the spring. These plants produces the largest and best specimens of the flower.

best specimens of the flower.

'Tis True, 'Tis Pity. Pity 'Tis, 'Tis True.

More than two thirds of our sick folks are treated by ignorant and unskillful physicians, and were it not for the wonderful recuperative power of nature, a much larger proportion would be hurried prematurely into the grave on account of erroneous treatment. People are mostly themselves to blame. They are a long time getting sick, but demand immediate relief. So for dyspepsia and indigestion the doctor prescribes a cathartic pill, for an acidulated stomach, some alkali, for pain, some hot liniment, for sleeplessness, some narcotic, for skin diseases some external ontiment, and so might erroneous treatment be enumerated to greater length, but enough it is to show the doctor aims to give quick temporary relief, without hope or expectation of any permanent good. Now, nine times out of ten dyspepsia, weak stomach, aches, pains, sleeplessness, nervousness, skin diseases, etc., owe their origin to a state of defective circulation and blood impurity, and the use of that scientific remedy invented by the eminent Dr. John Bull, of Louisville, Ky., would effect a permanent cure. It is called Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla. Demand it of your druggist. Take no other.

A PETITION FROM WEST POINT.

The Story of Young Swift's Impriso

A numerously signed petition was received from West Point yesterday by Colonel Towers, principal keeper of the penitentiary, praying for the pardon of John Swift. The petition stated that although Swift was sentenced from another county, the people of West Point had read the story of his conviction in The Constitution, and when they learned how, at the age of thirteen, he was sentenced to serve twenty years for assault with intent to kill, they were moved to comwith intent to kill, they were moved to com-passion, and not a single prominent citizen refused to lend the influence of his name in begging for a pardon.

Colonel Towers is very much pleased that Swift's case is causing general sympathy. He said that he hoped that other counties, espec-ially Elbert county, would join in the work and keep it up until Swift obtains his liberty, RETURNED.

Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125fh street, New York, certifies:

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months. I am pleased to say that it effected a complete cure, and that I have since had no return of the disease."

Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H., writes: "One year ago I was taken ill with rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."

"I have taken a great deal of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I felt its beneficial effects before I had quite finished one bottle, and I can freely testify that it is the best blood medicine I know of."—L. W. Ward, Sr., Woodland, Texas.

For Sale to the Highest Bidder On the 18th of March, 1890, AT 11 O'CLOCK A. M.,

The Former Capitol of Georgia

This grand building, four stories high, upon an elegant basement, fronts Marietta street 150 feet, running south along Forsyth street 100 feet to a 15-foot alley. What a magnificent hotel this would make, with five elegant stores on Marietta street to rent, at $1,500 each. This property is on one of the most public and valuable corners in the city of Atlanta, and could be converted into a first-class hotel, frunting on Forsyth street, atvery small expense; the immense basement would be just right for storerooms, barroom and billiards, and would rent for big money. This great corner is the most desirable spot in Atlanta for a city hall. With its comfortable offices now ready for occupancy, and those spacions halls sufficient to accommodate thousands of our citizens. We have no place now half large enough.

This building was originally planned and designed for an opera house, with sufficient capacity to seat thousands. There is no site superior to this, and a little money would accomplish the necessary change. The 150 feet front on Marietta street, without the building, the ground alone is well worth $800 per front foot.

No bid for less than $125,000 will he received. Sale one-half cash, balance one and two years, eight per cent interest. Here is a fine opportunity for a syndicate to invest and make big money.

THE MOONSHINERS.

THOROUGH BELIEVERS IN THE HOME RULE POLICY.

Their Good-Natured Traits and Hatred of Oppression-The Attacks on James Fendley-Fighting the Revenue.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ga., March 13 .- [Special.]-The people of the mountain section of north Georgia are mostly descendants of the old Georgia are mossly came from North Carolina and Virginia, and settled in that part of the state when the Indians were yet here. Some of them are descendants of the noblest and most patriotic families of Virginia, and they are a people who love liberty and freedom with an honest and an earnest love only second to that which they have for their God. A man whois dishonest or who will lie, in their estimation, is the lowest and meanest creature of God's creation; and such a man is ostracized and stigmatized as not being worthy to associate with honest men. They are an honest people and make their bread by the sweat of their brow, and they love hard work. They are stout and healthy and are inured to hardships. They have a high respect for ladies, and the roughest mountaineer is very gentle in the pres of ladies, and they will not allow any man insult or even treat any lady with the least unkinduess in their presence- They consider man the natural protector of ladies, and a lady is perfectly safe among them. They are the most hospitable people living. They look upon a stranger with suspicion, but when they are convinced that he is no spy and is a friend to them they will take him in, give him the best they have, and very few of them ever charge him a

They hold the laws of Georgia sacred, and without the least scruple abide by them; but they think they have an inalienable right to do as they please with the proceeds of their own labor; and any law that molests them in exercising this right, they consider tyrannical and oppressive, and will fight it even unto death. They are a bardy, brave and fearless people, and, without the least hesitation, will fire upon revenue officers, for they consider them a nuisance to the country, and think it is doing their country a great service to put as many of them as they can out of the way.

THE FIRST GUN FIRED. The first gun that was fired at revenue officers in the mountain sections of north Georgia, was fired at James Fendley and his posse in the northern part of Lumpkin county, in June, Illicit distilleries had run in that section ever since the war until that time without mo-lestation. Jacob Sane had run an illicit distillery for twelve years, within two hundred yards of the public road, without being mo-lested, and everybody in the country knew that he was stilling there, too; for it was as public place as a country store at a cross-roads. But, at the above time mentioned, James Fendley, at the head of a posse of men, came and arrested Sane.

When they came, they found him in the dis-tillery at work. They got there about 10 a.m., and Sane was running off a doubling. They staid until he had finished the doubling, so it was about 3 p. m. when they left the distillery, carrying the whisky, still and Sane with m; but they did not destroy the beer. They had not gone more than a mile, when they were startled by a sharp, crashing sound, and the leaden balls of forty mountain rifles whistled round them so near that some of them left signs of their trace in several of the officers' hats. Fendley's horse was shot dead under him and he was left on the ground with two bullet holes through one leg. The sound of the ride had not yet died upon the air, when it resounded with the hideous yells of forty mad men; and they, seeing that they had not accomplished their design, ran across a field, came in ahead of the officers, and fired another volley into them. The officers only saved themselves by keeping their|prisoner on a horse behind one of them and the others riding near to him, so they could not kill them without killing the prisoner. The moonshiners followed them on until they were in sight of Dahlonega, but did not get within gun shot of them after the second volley.

owards Dahlenega, and tha day is in the possession of those moonshiners and they make it boil, too.

The moonshiners thought that the officers would reinforce themselves and come again; so they appointed a chief commander, and he appointed subordinate officers, and sent out squads to take up advantageous positions along the road for three miles distant, with orders to let no stranger pass without knowing his business, where he is from, and where he is going, and to fire on any squad of armed men who should attempt to come up the road. They guarded the road this way for the ceks; but the officers did not return for monns, and then they just dashed right through and went back another way; and it is well enough for them that they did go back another way, for the chief had his men posted along the road to take them in as they came

These were real war times in that secsion. and the lives and property of any who were suspected to be unfriendly to this band were placed in jeopardy.

It was a division of this allied force that besieged Stuart, of Morganton, in his house, burned his outbuildings and tried to fire his house, to drive him out so they could kill him; but he and his son kept them beat back with their Winchesters, and thus saved their lives. For months after this, these men never slept or ate in houses, but staid in the woods, and slept with their rifles in their hands.

At another time the officers dashed in, As soon as it was known that they had gotten the men and were gone, a division of the moonshiners shouldered their rifles, walked sixteen miles, waylaid the road between Dahlonega and Gaineseille and remained there until it was reported to them that the men had been taken out of jail, and were free.

On Sunday the 23d instant the regular sesences with the annual sermon by Rev. R. R. Mcredith, D. D. In the afternoon of the same day or more likely in the evening, there will be lovely vespers and a service of song conducted by Dr. H. R. Palmer the distinguished composer. Upon the day following the regular opening exercises will commence. They will consist of a most interesting succession of vesper services, speeches, songs, stories, etc. Dr. W. A. Duncan, the promoter of the Chautauqua, is always at his best upon such occasions and the assembly will start off fully embued with his enthusiasm, which is contagious. On Tuesday there will be a lecture by Rev. Dr. Gifford, of Boston, Massachusetts. This will be followed at night by a grand concert and Chautauqua chorus conducted by Dr. Palmer.

The state alliance meeting follows next day. Both Mr. Northen and Mr. Livingston will grace the occasion with their presence. The leading alliancemen are much enthused and will give these distinguished speakers a rousing welcome. On Thursday there will be a brilliant succession of lectures and speeches by Senator Colquitt, Dr. A. F. Sherill, Bishop Beckwith and others. THE STORY OF A DUEL.

And the Strange Fate that Befell One of the Principals.

Principals.

The Athens Banner recently contained an account of a duel once fought between Mr. Smythe, the dead journalist and Mr. Thomas, of Elbert county. It recalls to an Athens man the remarkable history of one of the Principals. Mr. Thomas was before the war the proprietor of the old time famous Thomas factory, in Elbert county, and in those days factories were scarce in the south and paid handsomely. He was one of the wealthiest men in Georgia, but through strange circumstances he died a pauper.

The story of his life is indeed a legend. He came to Georgia from England, and purchased a fine water power and erected a large factory. He was liberal with his money, and soon became very popular. Around his factory he made one of the loveliest places in the south, spending thousands of money in grading, terracing, etc. His home was one of the handsomest south, spending thousands of money in grading, terracing, etc. His home was one of the handsomest in the state, and he excavated a whole hillside in the state, and he excavated a whole hillside to build it, after a peculiar design—something resembling the regendary abode of Robinson Crusoe, with nineteenth century architecture. The back of his house was formed by an upright embankment, the second story being level with the ground, while on the front the first floor was considerably above it.

But soon a change came. It seems an avalanche of misfortune overtook him. His factory was burned, his negroes freed, stocks he owned decreased to nothing, and soon he was reduced to almost starvation.

He lived from thenceforth the life of almost a hermit, rarely quitting his house, and until his death, despondent and with an aimless life.

The old factory site is now a vivid reminder

The moonshiners captured the whisky and still, carried the still back, put it in the same furnace that the officers had taken it out of, and stilled out the beer they left there, while not less than eightp men, well armed, guarded said that in some of the outbuildings are still said that in some of the outbuildings are still said that in some of the outbuildings are still broken up pieces of fine old mahogany furni-ture and parts of mounted harness.

THE GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL. Milledgeville Will Issue Bonds for its Support. MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., March 13 .- [Special.] As was predicted in THE CONSTITUTION some time ago the bonds election here today went overwhelmingly "for bonds." If Milledgeville was ever divided on any question, she sealed that breach today in an unanim vote to issue twenty-two thousand dollars worth of bonds to aid the girls industrial school. There were two hundred and sixtyfive votes registered for the election, and two hundred and fifty-nine votes were polled "for bonds," with none against. The only opposi tion that has been manifested against the movement is a couple of disfranchised negroes, who, happily, had no influence in the election

Will Teach Geology.

Will Teach Geology.

Hiawassee, Ga., March 13.—[Special.]—It is reported that Major W. R. McConnell, dealer in real estate—buying and selling mineral property a specialty—at this place, has agreed to accept the position as teacher of geology in Hiawassee High school. He has made this a study for a great many years, and will, no doubt, make a capital teacher. He has a very rare collection of rocks—in fact, one of the finest in the northern part of the state.

The Sheriff's Leg Broken

CUMMING, Ga., March 13.—[Special.]—Deputy Sheriff W. M. Holbrook got a leg broke yesterday, by his road cart turning over on him. At last accounts he was doing as as could be expected.

Fine Havana Cigars

We have lately increased our facilities and are prepared to supply the constantly growing demand of our fine Havana cigars. Both our large mand of our fine Havana cigars. Both our large the Coronas and the small size Coronas challenge the finest brands imported from Cuba. Smokers should bear in mind distinctly that no fine Havana cigar is fit to smoke unless it is made by hand. Having an experience of twenty years in the business we can say the Spanish method of making eigars by hand is perfect; in fact, it is an art in the highest sense of the word. In making recently our annual purchase of Havana leaf tobacco, we took particular pains to seelect just such qualities of leaf suited especially for this market, namely: a thin silky leaf; rich in color, not too light or too dark; mild and sweet in taste, coupled with that brilliancy of fragrance which is an exclusive property of the very best Cuban leaf tobacco. There is nothing bitter about this genuine Vuelta Ahaja leaf; it has not the slighest touch of rankness, and mark well, it does not make you dry in the throat neither does it bite your tongue when you smoke it.

Our cigars are for sale in all first-class drug stores, cigar stores, saloons and restaurants and the trade is supplied from the factory at No 2 Edgewood avenue, corner Peachtree street, by

"Dr. King's Royal Germetuer is almost a panacea

Such was the expression of a lady who was cured with Royal Germetuer of indigestion, debility, wasting of flesh, shriveled skin, diabetes and disease of the bladder and kidneys, after several physicians and many remedies had been tried in vain. It builds up from the first dose, the patient quickly feeling its invigorating and health giving influence. It increases the appetite, aids digestion, clears the complexion and speedily brings bloom to the cheek, health to the body, and joy to the heart.

Thousands of certificates, voluntarily sent for for all diseases of women!"

to the cheek, health to the body, and joy to the heart.

Thousands of certificates, voluntarily sent for the benefit of suffering humanity, attest its virtues and sound its praise. It makes no mistake in diagnosis, or create one disease while curing another. It cures without fail, indigestion, insomnia, diabetis, eczema, blotches, catarrh, and diseases peculiar to females. If you are weak and debilitated and need building up, strengthening and renewing, Germetuer will do it. It is as palatable as lemonade, and never fails to benefit. In order to place this imcomparable remedy within reach of all, the price has been reduced from $2.50 to $1.50 per concentrated bottle, which makes one gallon of medicine as per directions accompanying each bottle. THE STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

New York, March 13.—To supplement the news of the absorption of the Chicago, Burlington and Northern by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy this morning the bank of England further re-duced its minimum and of discount. duced its minimum rate of discount to four per cent. It is felt that this action will further stimu-late the interest of foreigners in American tocks late the interest of foreigners in American tocks and securities, and that that element will hereafter be an important factor in the course of prices in this market. The effect upon the opening here was to create the utmost excitement and buoyancy, at least for a time, and while the general list showed gains over last night of from $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, Burlington and Quincy was up 1½ and Rock Island 1 per cent. There were an unusually large number of brokers upon the floor and the excitement of the first few minutes has seidom nent of the first few minutes has seldom been exceeded. It soon became evident, however, that they were not all there for the purpose of buying stocks and while the shorts were busily covering, the boys were feeding out stocks as fast and even faster than they were wanted which after the opening spurt had the effect of slowly sagging off prices, the opening figures in most stocks being the highest for the day. Realizing sales continued throughout the day and as money operators were holding off for the bank statement of Saturday, which is expected to give evidence whether the recent disbursements for bonds have had any real off prices, the opening figures in most stocks being recent disbursements for bonds have had any real influence upon the monetary supply of this city or not, the demand was scarcely equal to the supply. Should the reserves of banks show any Increase, however, the more promising class of buyers will be brought into the market and the upward movement be given a permanent character. Realizations being upon such a liberal scale gave the bears encouragement to attack the scale gave the bears encouragement to attack the list in several spots during the afternoon and the heavy selling of Chicago gas, which was snp-posed to be for the estate of the late John S. Lester, aided in the depression. In fact Chicago gas became the great feature of the market during the afternoon and dropped 3½ per cent, though a portion of the loss was recovered before the close, after some wide and violent fluctuations. As was natural, stocks which had had the largest advances suffered most in the decline, and Burlington, Rock Island, Louisrille and Nashville, Lackawanna and such specialties as Tennessee scored a marked loss. The weakest spot in the list was Louisville, New Albany and Chicago, caused by selling which is believed to be for account of the defeated party in election. A net drop of four and one-half per cent was the result of the day's operations in stocks. The market after the first spurt be-came comparatively quiet, and nearly half of the is believed to be for account of the defeated sales of listed shares was affected in the first hour. The close was active and heavy to weak, generally at or near the lowest prices of the day Sales of listed aggregated 294,000; unlisted 12,000

NEW YORK, March 13—[Special]—Although prirate advices from Liverpeol were not very favorable today the arrival market closed firm at an advance of 1-64d. Our cables state that the large bulls are free sellers of their holdings, which are passing into weaker hands. While our market owened steady at a slight; advance and subsepassing into weater manus.

opened steady at a slight advance and subsequently gained in tone and value, the close was only steady with the greater part of the advance lost. The features of the market were the continued buying of August deliveries by a prominent commission house, whose absorption of this position was persistent. Nearby positions were for sale, and notices for March delivery have been floating about all day, as no one appears willing to protect this delivery unless at such a difference as will repay them for the cost of warehousing dotton. Receipts are moderate today, but tomorrow New Orleans is expected to receive 5,000 bales and Brunswick 7,500 bales. To this news can be exceeded as the deciline of the formers. ascribed the decline of the afternoon. Interior receipts are expected to be 9,500 bales. HUBBARD, PRICE & Co.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions, CHICAGO, March:13-Wheat-Only a moderate business was transacted, but a very firm feeling existed most of the session. The opening was the same as the closing yesterday, and declined ½c, then with slight fluctuations advanced ½c, held quite steady, and the closing was %c higher than yesterday. Rather liberal clearances and a good export inquiry at the seaboard, with some business doing here, were the principal influences affecting the market. Foreign advices did not show any special change. A moderate milling demand existed here for the lower grades of wheat ts go to interior winter wheat points. Detroit wired that country deliveries of wheat were being rapidly absorbed by the millers, and also noted an improved trade in flour. The weather bureau re-ported considerable rain and cloudy weather in the lake region and Ohio valley, colder in the northwest and working southwest. Predictions are for a cold wave tomorrow. Reports of crop damage were again received from Tennessee and Central Illinois. In the last half hour of the ses-sion the market developed decided strength, due to the receipt of a good many buying orders from the winter wheat sections, St. Louis be ported a heavy buyer, supposed to be on bad crop news from that quarter.

Corn was traded in to a moderate extent within narrow limits. The feeling was steady early and firmer later. Operations wrre of a local character, the selling being mainly by parties against purchases in the country, and the demand confined to room opetators. A larve trader sold freely of May and purchased April. The market opened a shade under the closing prices of yesterday, was easy and sold off some, ruled firmer and closed a trifle better than yesterday.
Oats were traded in with more freedom, but_the Oats were traded in with more freedom, but, the feeling was steady and the range of prices narrow. A large operator sold May freely at 21½@ 21½c. This prevented an advance. A little more trading was noted in June and July, and sales were ot ½c advance. March remained neglected. Messpork—Trading was moderately active, but the feeling was somewhat unsettled, and prices fluctuated considerably. Prices were advance 15 @20c on May and 7½@10c on the more deferred deliveries, but prices settled back 2½.65c. and the
